

INDUSTRIAL NOTES

Cyril Morrisette has entered the plumbing department.

The farmers have been cultivating the corn for the first time this spring.

The cabbage, tomatoes and other plants in the garden are looking fine.

The washer in the laundry was fixed this week by James Smith and his detail.

The farmers hauled several loads of gravel from the Willamette river for repairing the silo.

Willie Norris has just started to run the engine and is doing fine for a small boy and a beginner.

The farmers machinery have all been repaired and painted in the blacksmith shop ready for use.

One set of single dray harness was completed this week by the harness-makers for Mr. T. D. Jones of Salem.

Mr. Cooper and his detail of boys mowed the grass and cleaned up generally in the school cemetery on Wednesday morning.

The farmers have just finished hauling saw dust from mill and filling in the walls of the root house up to 5 feet from the base.

The painters are now painting the Gymnasium. They have finished painting the roofs red and now they are painting the sides white.—B.D.

Six of the printers are from Washington, three from California, and one each from Oregon, Montana, and Alaska; and the ages range from 12 to 19.

It is said that some of us have three hands, right hand, left hand, and a "little behind hand."

A strenuous time is prevalent in the tailor shop owing to orders to design cut and make new uniforms for the Band.

Mr. Hulden and his detail are busy painting the wood work and gilding the molding in the Superintendent's cottage this week.

Geo. Scott left for his home at Metlakatla, Alaska on Wednesday evening. He was apprenticed in the engineering department.

The flowers around the industrial building are blooming and the little boys should not play on the lawn in front of that building.

The set of girls working the last three weeks in the laundry are good and rapid workers, and Mrs. Brewer and Woods appreciate their efforts.

Robert Clark and Lawrence Pabio are managers of the woodshed and they keep the saw-dust and bark well cleaned around the shed which shows that they take interest in their work.

The floors and walls of Mitchell Hall all have a very neat appearance with the exception of one or two whose occupants have not yet realized that their mothers or sisters are not here to sweep and make their beds.
