

Societies

EXCELSIORS

The Excelsior Literary Society met in the school building last Thursday evening. It being the first meeting of the season it was necessary to elect new officers. The election was as follows: President, Tillie Souvignir; Vice President, Loulin Brewer; Secretary, Margaret Lowry; Sergeant-at-arms, Amos Smoker; Assistant Sergeant-at-arms, Clarence Lewis; Reporter, Belle Dillstrom. The President then appointed the program committee, May Evans, Helen Harnden and George J. Williams. After the election followed a debate. The subject was, Resolved that Chemawa should have Military training. Affirmative principle Helen Harnden; colleagues, Amos Smoker and Esther Napoleon; Negative principle Margaret Lowry; colleagues, George Williams and Loulin Brewer. The result was three to nothing in favor of the Affirmative. Mr. Smith then spoke to the society and they adjourned.

NONPAREIL

The girls and boys from grades seven, eight, the juniors and the seniors met in room No. 9 last Thursday to organize their society. They named it the "Nonpareil Literary Society" and elected the officers. The result was as follows: Levi Sortor, president; Martin J. Sampson, vice president; Bessie Chiloquin, secretary; Katie Brewer, treasurer; Joaquin Meadows, sergeant-at-arms; Gordon B. Hobucket, reporter. With such promising officers and especially with such a worthy president, the society as a unit is determined to conquer all things and to demonstrate its ability in literary work, be it large or small. Before they adjourned the President appointed a program committee, Louise Murray, chairman; Katie Brewer and Dolly Case, assistants.

Now that the society doors are opened again and activity resumed it will be the pleasure of the Nonpareil Society to extend a hearty welcome to all new students and use the opportunity for your future welfare.

Y. W. C. A.

The Y. W. C. A. met in their usual place last Wednesday evening. The room was called to order by the President and a new Roll was made. After this some of the old members were called upon to speak. The Society then said their watchword and adjourned.

WARM SPRING NOTES.

Mr. McLwaine has been away for a ten days' vacation and Mrs. Covey has been taking his place in the school-room. We enjoyed having Mrs. Covey for a teacher very much.

Last Friday evening the girls of Companies A and B serenaded Mr. and Mrs. Bishop and also Mr. and Mrs. Covey and on their way home did not forget to give a rousing hurrah for our industrial teacher, Mr. John Polk. Its lots of fun to serenade and the treats are good, too.

We like our new physician, Dr. Lawrence very much. He says he thinks Warm Spring girls are very brave because they make no fuss when they need to have teeth pulled. He is also going to teach us some new songs when his music comes, we'll serenade him some time.

All the wisdom of the world may not be found in the literary societies but the best students are there.