

Raspberries! To think that we are in November and this country is still raising raspberries and strawberries.

The baker boys find that since they have their new bakery and oven they can not only handle their bread, but on Tuesday they furnish pot pies for the children's dinner, ginger bread for Sunday supper, fruit pies for Sunday dinner, roly poly for Thursday supper, and Boston baked beans for two or three evenings during the week.

Mr. Charles K. Lyman, the Northwestern traveling Secretary for schools and colleges of the Y. M. C. A. visited the school last Tuesday and gave the student body an excellent talk and conferred with the Y. M. C. A. boys concerning their work. He was greatly pleased to find the various departments of the Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Enright returned from Grande Ronde last Monday with a wagon load of pupils among the number being Clara and James Robinson, Martin Hartless, Maud Petite, Mary and Bart Voutrin, Archie and Guy Russie. Mr. Enright returned to Grande Ronde on Wednesday for a second wagon load, and it is possible he will still make a third trip to bring all of the pupils who desire to come to Chemawa, from that place.

This year there is a great deal of talk among the boys who are to take part in the cross country run next spring. Last year there were about 60 contestants for the honor of representing Chemawa in this event, and judging from the talk we hear among the boys, there will be more than that number competing this year. In order to add zest to the matter in the near future there will be a cross country run at the school. So boys get busy and get in training.

The work in the Domestic Science department shows better results this year than formerly. The bread baked today was excellent. It was prepared by Viola Brown and baked by Alvina Dale.

Chemawa will soon have one of the nicest gymnasiums in the northwest. The old barn has been moved to its new location alongside the athletic field and Mr. Woods and his force are hard at work putting it into shape. When complete it will have a floor space of 100 by 60 feet in the clear, with a running track and gallery, together with dressing rooms and a platform and bath, and changing rooms for the athletes.

The gardeners have a large crop of vegetables this year, an unprecedented crop of potatoes and cabbage, in addition to beets, carrots, parsnips and turnips. All of these will be harvested from the field as needed through the entire winter, excepting the potatoes which are housed in the root house. But, owing to Chemawa's mild climate it is not necessary to take these vegetables out of the ground until they are ready to be used.

Prof. J. C. Mathes of the Washington State Normal School of Bellingham, gave the student body a very interesting lecture yesterday evening on the subject of Scenery and Industries of the State of Washington. Prof. Mathes' lecture was illustrated by 125 views which portrayed the Washington country vividly and was quite interesting to the audience, many of whom had been over the country which was presented on the screen. It certainly was a treat to have Dr. Mathes with us and we hope that he may come again. He is one of the foremost educators of the State of Washington.
