BE POLITE.

Boys and girls should keep very quiet during all chapel services.

Mr. Jacob Maxwell of Lapwai, Idaho, is an ex-pupil of Chemawa and is a man of influence and prominence among the Indians and whites of this community.

A letter has been received from Lavina DeVault, one of our former pupils who is working with her sister in a dressmaking department, at Aresia, Cal.

We hear that Joseph James is school tailor at the Riverside School, California.
Joseph is a graduate of Chemawa's tailoring department from Lummi reservation.

James Stewart who started his education at Chemawa is now employed in the Nez Perce country as civil engineer receiving something like $200 a month for his services. Chemawa is glad to chronicle the successes of her students.

We are glad to have some news from Chas Whitmore, Nez Perce, ex-pupil of Chemawa, who is interpreter for the United States Federal Court of Idaho.

Mr. Whitman is a representative man of his community. In addition to this he is a Notary Public.

Thanksgiving is coming. The question now is: Are we going to have turkey? It is a very hard question to decide as turkeys are quite valuable this year. [The Editor has heard the turkeys gobble.]

Harry Holt, of the class of '99, is now living at Ritzville, Wash. He is happily married and is book keeper of one of the largest manufacturing establishments of the place. He is much respected in the community and stands high in the estimation of his fellowcitizens.

The attention of pupils is called to the slovenly manner in which some of the pupils items are presented to the printers. The items should serve a double purpose; to give us the news and also a school room exercise. Slovenly work reflects no credit on either the pupil who prepared the item or the teacher of the grade from which the item was sent.

James S. Jefferson a graduate of Chemawa's blacksmith department can be found at 1326 Commercial Street, Bellingham, Washington where he is running a shop of his own and has been since last spring. James was a first class mechanic and we are pleased to know he is getting along so well. Superintendent Chalcraft on his last trip to the Sound country stepped into James' shop and found him busy with more work than he could handle.
