

PUPILS' ITEMS

Thanksgiving is coming,
The little boys play rough in football.

Chester Meacum is now working in the tailor shop.

We can almost hear the turkeys gobbling already.

Frazier Meacum is now working on the garden detail.

The girls have organized the basketball team for this year.

Mrs. Brewer received some apples from her farm in Tacoma.

Minerva Meacum made nice squash pies for Mrs. Teabo.

We are having beautiful weather for this time of the year.

Wilbur Martin is in the 4th grade; he likes his teacher very well.

The sixth grade pupils are reviewing their lessons and are doing finely.

Our school room looked very nice this morning when we came in.—R. L.

Marie Baily is now working in the sewing room and she likes her work.

It has been raining here for a while but we are having fine weather now.

We are very glad to see so many girls attending the Y. W. C. A. this year.

The seventh grade boys and girls each put in a little money and got a pennant.

Louise Murry made some very nice bread in the domestic science this week.

Eva Kenworthy is now Mrs. Thiesz's orderly. She seems to enjoy the work.

Mrs. Chalcraft's school room is decorated this morning with pretty maple leaves.

Jennie Luke is now working in the sewing room and does her work very neatly.

Bessie Boles is now working in the Hospital drug-room and says she likes her work.

Thomas Case takes great interest in his baritone. He intends to join the second band.

Mary Pablo is making a very pretty dress for Martha Decker. Mary is a good dress maker.

Nellie Bo-well is now working in the dining hall and she knows how to make the dishes shine.

Do not forget the lessons in politeness that Mr. Campbell has been giving you.

We are all glad that Tulia Cochran will be well enough to come to school pretty soon.—L. C.

Martin Cooper is getting to be a good gardener; although he has been working there only a few months.

Mrs. Campbell, during our study hour Tuesday night asked the boys to give a little talk on their vacation.

William Watkins, one of the boys of the first team of foot-ball is doing some fine punting. William is a good player.

The Seventh and eight grade entertainment will be put off for some time on account of the boys working on the track.

We had a fine meeting Wednesday evening in the Y. W. C. A. branch. The room was called to order by Mrs. Chalcraft.

We think Mr. Larsen will give us another good band in a very short time. Mr. Larsen is a good musician and a hard working employee.

The girls have started to play basketball; Laura Harnden and Viola Ferris show themselves to be expert players.

Christina Lane is getting to be a good dress maker. She is in earnest about her work and very neat.
