

Weekly Chemawa American

VOL. 10.

NOVEMBER 29 1907.

NO. 22

ELSEWHERE

Currency from the U. S. Sub-treasury, St. Louis, will be used to pay off the employees this month. The permission has been granted.—Indian School Journal.

Bids were opened in Washington the first of this month for the extension, repairs and improvements to our water system at the cost of $15,000.—Indian School Journal.

Mr. Gates had the pleasure of taking dinner with Mrs. Linton and Miss Lalor after the game in Los Angeles on Saturday. He recommends Miss Lalor's cooking very highly.—Sherman Bulletin.

Mr. Harold A. Loring, ex-supervisor in the Service, and well known in this school, writes the news that he is married and still in charge of the department of music at Line-tone College School of Music, Gaffney, South Carolina. Here's success to him and his wife.—Indian School Journal.

A Thanksgiving entertainment, "Columbia's Thanksgiving," is being prepared by the classes of Misses Proctor Smith, and Naff.—Sherman Bulletin.

The garden department raised good crops of all kinds of vegetables, excepting Irish potatoes, in spite of the killing frosts of last May, and the dry weather during the later months. Off of four acres 450 bushels of tomatoes were gathered; 459 bushels sweet potatoes were dug from a patch of 5 acres.—Indian School Journal.

It is not until we hear the profuse exclamations of Eastern visitors upon seeing our beautiful flowers that we think about them. It is wonderful to see at this season roses, carnations and violets blooming luxuriantly outside, but we grow accustomed to it and cease to appreciate.—Sherman Bulletin.

Booklets containing 100 pictures of the Phoenix Indian School are being carried away by many of the visitors as souvenirs.—Native American.

Dress parade and rifle drill by the pupils of the school were prominent features of the program for Indian day, and Captain Grienstead received many compliments on the behavior of the cadets.—Native American.

One of the school boys at Fort Hall School got the correct answer to our week before last's enigma—"Its Beautiful Roses"

The News Letter, a neat little weekly published at The Orphanage at Kodiak, Alaska, is a welcome visitor to Chemawa.