

INDUSTRIAL NOTES

Frank Dan is a very good baker.

George Flett is working in the harness shop.

Alex Moran works in the industrial department.

The farmers are busy plowing at the lower farm.

Grover Colby made a door for the engine room.

The gardeners are now pruning the blackberries.

Maggie Wynaco is now working in the laundry.

Viola Ferris is now working in the mess kitchen.

Katie Henry is making herself a very pretty dress.

The sewing room girls will soon finish the cheviot dresses.

Hulda Stokes is getting to be a good cook in the hospital.

Rhoda Silverthorn is working in the laundry and does her work very neatly.

The kitchen boys started using their white suits Thanksgiving day.

The sixth grade girls enjoyed the nice dinner Monday they had at the Domestic Science.

Tom Andrews is working on the night shift this week and Manuel Swanson is his fireman.

Millie Friedlander is still working in the laundry and she says she likes her work very much.

Minerva Meacum is working in the hospital kitchen and is getting to be a very nice cook.

Mr. Smith and a force of boys are putting in the steam pipe from the power house to the new bakery.

The sewing room girls finished the small girls' dresses for Thanksgiving and Miss Brown is pleased with them.

Mr. Westley and his garden boys are now hauling the prunes from the drier to the potato house for winter storage and use.

Thos. Holden is going to work with Mr. Bowen in the industrial department. Thomas is going to learn how to take care of roses and plant them.

Bessie Lahr is so interested in basketball that she wastes no time in her room after school but works. She is making the suits for the basketball girls.

Chemawa's campus is very much improved in appearance in the west side but around the school building there is considerable room for some "landscape gardening."

EXCELSIOR

The Excelsior Society held its regular meeting last Thursday in room No. 5. The house was called to order by the president. Roll was called. There were some members absent. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and stood approved. Old business was called for. The Constitution and By-Laws were read and approved. Then the subject "colors" was brought up which was soon disposed of. New business was then called for there being none Apis Goudy was admitted as a new member. Then came the program which was as follows: Opening address, Tillie Souvigner; current events, Fortunato Jayme; select reading, Laura Harnden; jokes, Peter Seltice.

As the business transactions took up most of the evening it was necessary to postpone the debate until the next meeting. A motion was then made for adjournment so the society then adjourned.
