

INDUSTRIAL NOTES

Neva Souvignier is working in the sewing room.

Mattie Hayden is working in the sewing room.

Melvina Moxley is now working in the laundry.

Caroline Wright is now working in the sewing room.

Mary Campbell is working in the laundry and does her work neatly.

Clara Robinson is getting to be quite a dressmaker in the sewing room.

Walter Miller is now working in the blacksmith shop and is doing fine work.

John Johnson is working on the dairy and he says he likes his work very much.

Alex Covington is a good fireman although he has been only a few months in the shop.

Leslie Harris and Jane Bally, two of Miss Skipton's smallest girls, are doing some nice hemming.

The girls in Miss Skipton's room are making sheets and pillow slips. They are now filling an order for 400 of each for McBeide Hall.

Rachel McCoy, one of Miss Skipton's new girls, made her first buttonhole on Friday and it is one that experienced girls might justly feel proud of.

Marion Curl is learning very fast under the instruction of Mr. Knright, Chemawa's tailor, and as this is the first time he has entered the shop during the time he has been at Chemawa we all hope he will stay with it and make a good tailor.

Brevities

Katie Henry is one of the best basketball players.

Mr. Woods is busy getting Christmas, etc., ready for old Santa.

The boys are expecting Buford Spencer back to Chemawa within a few days.

Annie Evans is a very active member of the Estelle Reel Society, and a good debater.

Hazel Butler received a boxful of delicious things to eat last Monday from her home.

Turkey for Thanksgiving and Turkey for Christmas: Well! Well! Bless our old Uncle Sam.

Wm. Watkins is a very studious young man. One can see him studying in his room every night preparing some lesson for the next day.

We have often heard of "giggling girls," but "giggling boys" is something which can be examined in one or more of the school rooms.

We're all glad to have Sarah Pierce return. She intends either to attend the Willamette University or to take a nurse course at the Salem Hospital.

We have a very musical school. Two bands, guitar and mandolin club, piano choir, etc., etc., and then a native Indian Song. Who says the Indians are not musical?

The Excelsior Society elected new officers at their last meeting. Thomas McAtally was elected president. We hope that the society will improve much during his presidency.
