

PUPILS' ITEMS

The boys play marbles rain or shine. Webster Hudson is practicing a song.

We are all glad to see Alice Chalcraft able to come to school after she had such a bad cold.

Matilda Gibeau is now working in the sewing room; she does her work very neatly.

Maggie Wynaco is making herself a very nice red skirt and is doing very neat work.

The basketball girls are going to play with Monmouth the fourth of January. We all wish them success.

Dr. Tucker received a letter from Miss G. A. Vaughn, stating that she has been appointed nurse at Fort Shaw.

The fourth grade had a spelling match recently and Viola Brown and Alvin Pollock stood highest in the class.

The school grounds seem to be improving every day. The ashes and sinders made a good road behind the engineer department.

Miss Edwards received a letter from her cousin in the East saying they were having sunny weather. But they have no roses blooming for Christmas as we have in the West.

We, the girls who practice on the stringed instruments, are glad to think that we are going to have Mr. Turney for our instructor.

Supervisor John Charles is taking his annual leave of absence and is at home at Denver, Colo., "trying to get acquainted with his family."—Weekly Review.

CHRISTMAS NOTES.

The Christmas of 1907 was the brightest and best in the history of the school. It was a happy day for all.

The corn popped better this year than ever before. Our own Mr. Westley raised it.

All the little girls are making doll dresses this morning. They think the dolls are more beautiful this year than ever before.

One small boy thinks that Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus are still growing. They did seem somewhat taller this year than last.

Mrs. Cloutier entertained Miss Jones and Miss Bowman at dinner on Xmas.

Big red apples and California oranges made up a part of our Christmas supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Cox and Iva and Mr. and Mrs. Woods and Eva ate dinner in the mess Christmas.

The committee that put up the decorations at the dining hall were Bessie Chiloquin, Annie Johnson, Mary Pablo, Lizzie Frazier, Sarah Peirce, Belle Dillstrom, May Evans and Lizzie Beaver.

The Christmas tree looked very beautiful decorated with dolls, teddy bears, and numerous other presents, which were enjoyed by the recipients.

ENIGMA

I am composed of 13 letters:

My 13, 12, 4, is a kind of biscuit,

My 9, 4, 1, is an insect,

My 6, 7, 10, 8, afflicted with disease,

My 2, 3, 5, 11, a part of the foot,

My whole, a popular organization.

John Markistum and Cora Meacham of Neah Bay, Wash. ex-pupils of Chemawa, were recently united in marriage.
