

LOCALS

The gardeners are pruning trees.

Some people suffered from indigestion this week!

Mr. and Mrs. Cox and Iva went to Salem on business, Tuesday.

A corps of girls were cleaning the new hospital Monday and Tuesday.

The industrial boys' will soon start a cinder walk to the new hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooper had their Xmas dinner at Salem with A. L. Harvey.

Sarah Peirce was in charge of the dining hall during the short illness of Mrs. Cox.

The garden boys are washing squash and pumpkin seeds for next planting season.

Mr. Westley's boys are fixing trays, preparing for next September's prune drying.

There has been no regular work in the domestic science department for three weeks on account of the holidays.

Dr. Tucker, with the help of Mrs. Bullard and her force of nurses, is getting ready to move into the new hospital.

Pickering Chalcraft and his new gun are inseparable companions just now. A boy's first gun is to him a great treasure.

The sewing room girls are busy doing odd jobs. At present they are getting ready for real work to make work uniforms.

Postal cards and letters from the S. A. A. C. young men say they are getting along fine. They are loud in their praises of Chemawa and the hospitality extended to them here.

The electric car made its first trip from Salem to Portland on New Year's day.

Edward Williams, William Lalachute and Frazier Meacum are fertilizing for planting the squash, cucumbers and pumpkins.

Mr. and Mrs. Gibeau, of Montana, left last Saturday afternoon, after visiting their daughters, Mary and Matilda, for over a week.

Mrs. Campbell is happy over the addition of some more beautiful Indian curios which were received as Christmas gifts and are now added to her collection.

Mrs. Chalcraft's pupils have decorated her blackboard most artistically. Mrs. Chalcraft's room is always neat and clean and the pupils seem happily busy.

Mr. Bowen and his industrial detail have made a cinder walk from the east side of the hospital to the gymnasium, so now you needn't go up to your necks in mud to go to a sociable.

The men of the Spokane amateur athletic football team took their meals at the domestic science room during their stay. They were entertained by Mrs. Cooper, Tillie Souvigner, Louise Murry, Dollie Case and Lizzie Beaver, who covered themselves with glory with their excellent hot rolls, coffee, apple pie and other choice dishes.

Mr. Campbell received a beautiful book issued by the Civic Club of Carlisle, Pa., for a Christmas gift. It is called "Carlisle New and Old". The book is profusely illustrated and tells about the quaint old town. Several pages are given to the Indian School there and the great work accomplished for the Indians at that famous institution.