

INDUSTRIAL NOTES

Schuyler Colfax of Neah Bay, Wash., has ordered a set of harness to be made at the school and shipped to him. The boys who took up harness making are as follows: Antoine Francis, Harry Covington, Edward Stanger, George Flett, Martin Cooper, Leo Barnaby, and Alphonso Guay.

Mr. Hulden is making rods for the electric lights and Martin Hartless is painting them as they are finished.

We are pleased to report a favorable progress in all things, particularly in the designing class. The "Santa Claus costumes" were handled entirely by a student, and the manner in which Geo. Williams can preside at a cutting table when drafting a pair of trousers and perform the work is both creditable and encouraging to his shop associates.

The tailor shop unites in a vote of thanks to the football boys for winning the football game with the Spokane A. A. Club.

Frank Peters does some repairing in the carpenter shop; anything that comes in the shop, such as doors, window frames, etc. He and Eddie Curl are doing well.

Father Datin was here on Sunday accompanied by his niece. Father also held Xmas mass on Xmas morning.

Evelyn McCoy's mother, who came to see her daughter, Rachel McCoy, will stay until Rachel improves from her illness.

David Graham while at The Dalles wondered whether Chemawa had changed since last year, as he went away in the Old Year and came back in the New Year.

We extend our thanks to Mrs. Mayfield of Seattle, for the pictures she sent to McBride Hall, Small Girls' Home, Boys' Reading Room, and Small Boys' Home.

In a letter from Mr. Hilb we notice that he has entered the Indian Service, being located in the war department, as wagonmaker at Whipple Barracks, Arizona. Mr. Hilb's friends will be glad to know of his present location, and his friends here wish him success in the war department.

On last Saturday the school enjoyed a delightful entertainment given by the "Bohemian Student's String Quintette", composed of Miss Lillian Stege, 1st violin; H. N. Stoudenmeyer, 2nd violin; LeRoy Gesner, Viola; Edward Capper, cello, and Ruthyn Turney, Bass. The following program was excellently rendered;

- Selection "Faust" . . . . . Gounod
- March . . . . . Volkmann
- Walzer . . . . . Volkmann
- Andante Cantabile . . . . . Tschaikowski
- Mountain Maiden's Sunday . . . . . Ole Bull
- Serenade Badine . . . . . Gabriel-Marie

The thanks of the employes and student body are due to the Quintette for a very enjoyable evening.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

John Sorter of Portland was visiting the school and friends last week.

Bessie Chiloquin spent her Christmas holidays at Lebanon, Ore. with Rev. L. J. Beaty and family. She says she had a very pleasant time while she was there.
