

Left-Over Items

Jerry Reece likes to work at the office.

Maggie Wynaco is working in the sewing room.

The third grade keep their schoolroom very neat and clean.

There are 38 boys and girls in room No. 3 in the mornings.

The third grade had their examination last Wednesday.

Elwood Tonner jiggled for Mrs. Liphart and she gave him an apple.

Julia Walker is now working in the laundry and does her work neatly.

James Moses is working on the garden detail and he likes his work very well.

The industrial boys were all glad to see Robert Stensgar out of the hospital.

The carpenter boys are busy this week putting windows in the printing office.

We are all sorry that Joe Lane is sick and we hope to see him well before long.

Howell Breeden is working in the kitchen. He says he likes his work well.

Alice McPherson is now working in the sewing room and does her work nicely.

Emma Shepard is now making herself a pretty dress. She will soon have it finished.

The fifth grade pupils are very glad to have James Olney back to school with them again.

Harriet Dick worked in the sewingroom for four months and she can make nice dresses now.

It is almost time for the long distance runners to train. Get busy boys, we must keep the championship of the Pacific Coast.

Millie Friedlander got a pretty beaded belt from her sister. Millie is proud of the belt.

Edward McCoy is here on a visit and says he would like to stay here all the time if he could.

Leo Barnaby, who came during Christmas vacation, is now working in the harness shop.

Ralph Allen will begin to work in the plumber shop next week. He has quit the engineering department.

Neta Jones is now working in the laundry, but soon will be back in the sewing room with Miss Skipton.

Laura Harnden is getting to be a very good cook since she has been working in the Domestic Science department.

We are all glad to hear that Peter Seymour is coming back to school. He is one of our best five-mile runners.

Louis James is making sidewalk sand and he says he likes his work well, and Mr. Cooper says Louis is a hard working boy.

Dora Aubrey, Maggie Goss and Geo. Goss, new pupils from Browning, Mont., have arrived at the school. We were pleased to welcome them.

Dora Aubrey and Maggie Goss, the new girls that just arrived last Thursday, are working in the sewing room and we hope they will like their work.

Frank Dan is practicing hard for this year's relay races. We all hope he will be superior this year to what he was last year. He has the will power and energy.

Why did the boys and girls keep their feet moving when a familiar air was being played on the phonograph last Monday evening? Very bad manners.