

PUPILS' ITEMS

Julia Hoyt made a very pretty bead bracelet for herself last week.

Mrs. Campbell is always giving the pupils in her grade advice to do right.

Bessie Boles and Violet Edwards do the best work in hemstitching their caps.

Mrs. Olney surprised her children on Tuesday when she got off of the train.

Martha Decker made some delicious cookies in the Domestic Science class.

The boys in Mitchell Hall are glad to see Capt. Martin Sampson back on duty.

Frank Souvigner sang a beautiful song at the eighth grade party. Frank's voice is improving every day.

The Fifth Grade pupils are glad to see James Robinson back to school after a short visit to his home in Grand Ronde.

Sallie Gibeau is taking lessons on the guitar and she will soon be able to play with the girls in the String Instrument Club.

Willie Carrasco always keeps steam up to 80 pounds. We all know why he keeps it up. Because he likes to go to a social.

Eugene Anderson, Elmer Henry, and Chas. Minesinger are working after shift now; everything goes on all right in the morning.

A letter was received from Silas D. Whitman, of Lapwai, Idaho, and a former pupil of Chemawa, stating that he was sorry to hear of the death of his dear old friend, Mr. D. E. Brewer.

Mary McClish made some fine cake in the mess kitchen on Saturday afternoon. Mary has had some good, practical experience at Chemawa and is a good cook and housekeeper.

The hospital girls are very busy making white aprons and hemstitching caps for themselves.

Annie Evans is president of the Estelle Reel Society. Annie is a good president and all the members are nice and obedient.

Dora Lane, an ex-pupil of Chemawa, is attending school at a convent in Red Bluff, Calif. Her many friends at Chemawa, wish her success.

The harness makers have been working out for fresh air. They were working on the roads and the paths, which they enjoyed very much.

Geo. Washoe, who has been visiting two cousins, Marguerite and Maud Lowry, left this morning for Prosser, Washington, where he will have work to do.

George Baker says he is going to work on the farm as soon as Mr. Campbell comes back. He says he don't like to leave Mrs. Doherty because she treats him like her son.

If you want to learn how to make a good hot fire go to Maggie Jerry and she will show you, as Mrs. Cooper says she is the best fire-maker of all the girls she has had working in the Domestic Science department.

The seventh grade pupils have been reading about four American poets; just now they are studying part of the life of John G. Whittier. Whittier's life is perhaps the most interesting one to study of all the poets, because it is instructive.

When the boys of Company A come into the chapel don't forget to fill up the benches. It is much easier for you to fill up the benches than to have two or three sergeants going to make you fill up the benches or let the boys of Company B fill it up along the outside rows of benches.
