

sponsibility resting upon the shoulders of Mr. Chalcraft and Mr. Campbell.

Mr. Smith spoke of his experiences in school and out and admonished the students to apply themselves, to dig hard early and late. He spoke of his experience in Eastern schools.

Miss Hutchinson, who is the efficient clerk, and has been identified with the school work and school life for a number of years, made a few appropriate remarks relative to conditions at Chemawa.

James Sloan came here in 1904, he said, and had accomplished a great deal since. He spoke of the key to success as the determination to win.

Apis Goudy spoke of recent changes in the Chemawa map—of the buildings erected since 1901. In the last few years the greatest activity had prevailed in the way of improvement of the grounds and buildings.

Mr. Mann spoke his surprise when first he came to the school. He gave good advice to the students, saying that "now" is the time to do your "best"—do not wait.

Mr. Bowen made a few brief remarks, but said owing to the fact that he had not been here for a very long time he could not comment on conditions. However, he liked everything connected with the institution and thought it a great school.

Mr. Campbell spoke briefly, but covered a great deal of ground. He made mention of many Chemawa graduates who were now out in the world doing for themselves and making reputations of which they should be proud. He has kept track of a vast number of students and is proud of their achievements. His account of certain boys and girls who have gone forth from Chemawa was certainly good to hear and should have been very encouraging to others who are to follow in their footsteps.

Colonel Hofer made a pleasing talk, but for the entertainment of the wee small boy recounted a "Bear Story," the absolute truth of which he vouched for. In conclusion he said that his paper would always be a friend of Chemawa boys and girls. He paid a fine tribute to Mr. Brewer, the departed.

The song, "Red, White and Blue," was splendidly given. The choir was under the direction of Mrs. Campbell and sang well.

Mr. Teabo, band leader, in speaking of Chemawa and affairs here, said that he was just one year older than the school which was not much to brag about.

Mr. Larsen told of having passed through the various departments of the school, and of the thoughts and actions of the little boys, as well as the older boys, and how he sympathized with them. That he desired to help all of the boys. In closing he said that the students had so conducted themselves as to make his duties pleasant in the main.

A song by the choir completed the evening's exercises and the students marched out in time to a stirring march by the band. The evening was in every way memorable and of such a character that the time passed very pleasantly and swiftly. May the pennant of Chemawa float on the breezes far into the future, heralding to the world the great work of the past, of the present, and auguring well for future glorious achievements.
