

PUPILS' ITEMS

Ida Johnson is now the dining hall sergeant.—C. W.

We are glad to hear that Fred Lewis is almost well.—A. L.

We are all enjoying this fine weather in the month of April.—J. R.

The dairy boys were very sorry to see Wallace Burse quit the dairy.—A. M.

We are glad to have Minnie Picard in the sewing room as a dressmaker.—M. P.

At the Bible class last Sunday evening there were 49 boys and 51 girls.—A. E.

Big Joe has entered the plumber shop, after working at the printing office.—J. P.

We were all pleased with the music that the girls gave us Monday night.—M. M.

Mr. Swartz is glad to have Michael Wilson and George Williams on the farm.—E. B.

Jesse Wilson has finished striping a wagon, which Mr. Westley will use on the garden.—H. O.

We are all glad to see the spring months back again because everything looks nice and green.—B. C.

Eugene Anderson and Martin Sampson are now taking it easy during afternoon shift by hauling wood for the power house this week.—J. P.

We, who attended the Y. W. C. A. convention, feel that we have a greater inspiration to carry on the work. And what we have learned we wish to extend to others of the association.—H. D.

The prune trees look very pretty when we see the blossoms come out and fill the air with their fragrance.—M. D.

Miss Leudke took some girls out for a walk to old Chemawa, Thursday afternoon, and they all enjoyed themselves very much.—S. M.

Sam John can beat anybody milking cows. He is working for Mr. Cooper. He says he will stay here until he learns all about dairying.—D. B.

The Band Boys went to Salem last Saturday to play for the horse show. We all enjoyed ourselves. We could not ask for a nicer day.—J. T.

We all enjoyed the entertainment given by the Mandolin Club the sixth of this month, and we all hope they will give another one before long.—M. L.

Summer is coming on and we are looking forward to see the beautiful flowers, which will soon be in bloom along the sidewalks on our school ground.—F. R.

Left-Over Items

Amos Snoker is said to be a stayer in the long runs.—W. H.

William Watkins is out early in the morning training for the five-mile race. His motto is "The early bird catches the worm."—M. G.

As the result of an examination held in the 3rd grade on Friday last, Frank Dan, Harry Covington, Robert Service and Sarah Matthews were promoted to the 4th grade, their papers having shown the best work in questions answered, neatness and spelling. This gives these pupils an opportunity to make up the 4th grade work, and to pass to the 5th grade at the end of the school year, which we are very confident they will do.
