

PUPILS' ITEMS

The farmers are through plowing and seeding for this year.—M. W.

The first baseball team is practicing hard for the next game.

Mr. Turney has bought the girls' mandolin club a new set of books.—C. L.

Lizzie Beaver says she is going to try and stand highest in the junior class in examination.—A. C.

David Graham did some very neat work in ironing off the sway bar for a little 2 1-4 wagon.—E. M.

We are scheduled for a return game with the Eugene High School on the 29th of this month.—T. J. M.

Every pupil is anxiously waiting for the final examination which will begin the first part of June.—C. L. D.

One day last week Joe Dillstrom took a herd of goats to Portland for Mr Cooper. He returned the next day.—A. L.

William Watkins is one of our best long distance runners. He can be seen out on the race track on pleasant evenings.—J. U.

The Junior and Senior class boys and girls have begun studying for the final examination, which will be given the first of June.—S. B.

Some friends of Miss Irene Campbell were with her at the baseball game on Saturday and we were all pleased to have them "root" for Chemawa.

The girls attending the Willamette University brought home immense bouquets of beautiful California poppies from Salem last week and divided them among their friends.—L. M.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES

The wagon-makers will soon finish a heavy wagon.

Eddie Curl is making screens for the gymnasium this week.

Grover Colby is making sashes in the carpenter shop this week.

The gardeners will soon start to plant 32 acres of land in potatoes.

The painters are now painting about 2500 pickets for the hospital fence.

The force of men who are working on the "gym" are now putting a floor on the gallery.

The carpenters have finished some of the window and door frames for the gymnasium.

James Minesinger is firing this week and John Taylor and Wm. Carrasco are his wood haulers.

Lee Evans has just finished striping a wagon in a very creditable manner. His work shows much improvement.

A force of men are laying a foundation for the old printing office which is being remodeled for employes' quarters.

The painters have just finished varnishing and painting about 400 chairs and stools which were taken from the various departments.

The gardeners are now sorting and sacking 500 bushels of potatoes to be sold, so as to keep them from spoiling, the pupils being unable to eat them.

Mr. Swain and a force of boys are whitewashing the rafters and trusses of the interior of the "gym," as a preservative. Later this will be hidden by a fine oil-finished ceiling.