IN LIGHTER VEIN

A good tonic for those back in their studies is "ketchup."—Ex.

Fortunes are made by taking opportunities; character by making them.—Ex.

Reputation is what the world gives a man, character is what he gives himself.—Ex.

Prof.: "What is an octopus?" Smart Soph. (after a pause): "An eight-sided cat"—Ex.

The average man wants a square deal—"fair play"—but he also generally wants to act as umpire.—Ex.

Telegram to father: "Am sick; have no money." Father, in return: "Am well; have plenty of money."—Ex.

A "ten-penny" nail means that one thousand nails weight ten pounds. The word "penny" in this case is a corruption of pound.—Ex.

"Do you know that I was born on the same day Emerson died?"

"Both events being a cruel misfortune to literature."—Bohemian.

Detective—I never saw your husband, you know, madam. Has he any peculiar features or marks about him?

Deserted Wife—Yes, sir: just above his right ear I think you will find a mark shaped like the corner of a flatiron.—Ex.

"Willie," said a fond mother earnestly "you should go to bed early. 'Early to bed and early to rise makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise,' you know. You should go to bed with the sun—the chickens go to bed with the sun."

"Yes, I know they do, mamma, but the old hen—she always goes with 'em!"—Ex.

Fair Patient—"I suffer greatly from insomnia, doctor."

Doctor—"You must eat something just before retiring."

Fair Patient—"But you once told me never to eat anything before going to bed."

Doctor—"Oh, that was a year ago. Science has made rapid strides since then.—Ex.

He—"When will there be but twenty-five letters in the alphabet?"

She—"Give it up."

He—"When U and I are one."—Ex.
