Apricots are in the market as well as cherries and blackberries. The first crop of strawberries is almost gone.—Native American.

The girls in the dressmaking department are just completing their sample books, of which they are very proud. They are all hoping to get good marks of these samples in their examination.—Sherman Bulletin.

The annual inspection of dormitories and shops by the students was one of the most popular features of Commencement week. The immaculate cleanliness and perfect order impressed both teachers and pupils, but all agreed that the girls' quarters were a little prettier and more livable than the barracks of the boys. It would be hard to say where photographs flourish the most numerous.—Native American.

The Commencement dates this year are June 21, 22, 23, and 24. The baccalaureate address will be given on Sunday evening, June 21, at eight o'clock by Dr. S. S. Estey, of Topeka. Monday evening the Commercial class day exercises will occur. Tuesday afternoon will be exhibit day and work from all of the girls' and boys' industrial departments will be inspected. Tuesday evening the literary societies will give a demonstration on the lawn, to be followed by an address. The graduating exercises will take place on Wednesday morning. In the afternoon the athletes will display their skill. After supper there will be competitive drills, band concert and other interesting features.—Indian Leader.

Miss Estelle Reel, Superintendent of Indian Schools, has been paying us a visit for a few days on business connected with the N. E. A. Convention to be held at Cleveland this summer. This school will probably participate to the extent of sending students to illustrate and demonstrate the work which is being done here to develop native Indian art. Aside from that, it may be that arrangements can be perfected to send that number of the commencement program which elicited so much favorable comment, i. e., the talk and demonstration by Elizabeth Penny and some of her friends concerning the life and customs of the Nez Perce.

Miss Reel is always a welcome guest, and we are glad to have her with us.—The Arrow.

On Wednesday evening the Juniors gave a reception to the graduating class, their friends and teacher. The parlors of the girls' home never looked prettier than on that joyful occasion, brightened as they were by red rugs and lights and graceful festooning of pepper leaves and class colors, with numerous huge bowls of roses and sweet peas filling all the available spaces. The entertainment was lavish and vastly appreciated; the cakes, especially, seemed too good to be eaten, having been concocted by the graduates and other pupils for display purposes. If they had been made for a June bride they could hardly have been better. The happy seven were blithe and festive, dressed in becoming black and white. Success to the class of '08!—Native American.

The school band is in demand these days, applications having been received for some half dozen dates already. However as several of the leading players are in the ball team, not all dates can be supplied as some of the ball games have been scheduled for the same time.—Weekly Review.
