INDUSTRIAL NOTES

Chas. Stensgar started working in the shoe shop last week.

Martin Sampson made a double-tree for one of the farm wagons Wednesday.

Harry Queachpalma is taking charge of the boys who are picking strawberries.

The engineers tore a wall out about 9 feet square to put in a switch board last Tuesday.

The farmers were cutting the vetch last Tuesday, which is to be cut and used for silage.

Henry Olson and Fred Bain painted the roof of the woodshed on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Harry Jones and Cyril Morisette fixed the faucets in the wash room in Brewer Hall last Wednesday morning.

Jas. Benjamin has been cutting the grass around the edge of the sidewalk in front of the office this week.

Davis Miller is fireman in the forenoon this week and Tom Davis is his wood hauler, while Aurelius Talbot is running the engine.

An electric light pole is being moved several feet for the convenient attachment of the electric wires near the engineering department.

The blacksmiths are going over all the machinery on the place and fixing up the parts which are out of order and making new parts for the broken ones.

Robert Sampson is now working in the blacksmith shop. The blacksmiths are glad to have him as he promises to be a good football player—weighing 197 lbs.

ROSE AVENUE LEAGUE

Ohio.....	2	6	.250
Boston.....	2	6	.250

With only a few days before the finish of the series it is certain that the Tigers have a lead that cannot be overcome; but for second place there is a hard tussle between the Tyees and Unions and unless the Black Cats break the hoodoo that has been hanging over them they will have to be content to remain in the cellar. For the last game we have arranged for an exhibition game between the winners and the best men from the other three teams.

The whitewash crew, the painters and the cement gang are to be given a party in the auditorium tonight.
