mawa at Junction City and when the open for all 100-yard dash was called by the sports' committee of Junction, Cyril doffed his baseball cap and was on the mark. He won easily in 10 2-5 sec.

THE BATTALION

The band and Companies A, B, and C went to Salem and participated in the Fourth of July parade and celebration. Many were the words of praise given to the marching of the boys and their appearance in the parade.

THE PICNIC

The girls and small boys had an enjoyable time at home. All kinds of races were run—50-yard, 100-yard, half-mile relay race, sack races, three-legged races and baseball by the little boys, while games of all kinds were indulged in by the girls. The lunch on the lawn was greatly enjoyed.

THE FIREWORKS

After supper the fireworks commenced. The lawn about the school house was set aside for this purpose and from that time until "taps" there was an incessant roar and blaze of fireworks and noise-making appliances. It certainly was a big day and one to be remembered.

THE SMALL BOYS.

The Small Boys claim to have had the best time of all on the Fourth of July.

The morning hours were devoted to making arrangements and practicing for the afternoon sports.

A general invitation to all employees and students to be present at the grand stand to witness the games, was sent out, consequently a large crowd greeted them when the ball game between Woodburn and Brooks was announced at 2:15 p. m. James Joe was captain of the Woodburns and Roy Wilson for Brooks. The winning team was Brooks in a score of 10 to 9. The next was a relay race between Chemawa, represented by A. Smith, J. Horne, J. Darnell and F. Wilson, and Portland, represented by McK. Moses J. Whitehead, R. Downie and C. Walker. It is needless to say that Chemawa won the race.

After that came the races of various distances. Charles Dick won the 100-yd. race, Oscar Grant won the 50-yd. race, Lawrence Mahatch won the sack race, Douglas Luke and John Johnson won the 3-legged race, Hartley Williams won in the open or free for all race, running twice around the track.

The boys take this opportunity of thanking Mr. Henderson for the assistance he gave them in the races and also for the soda pop with which he so generously treated the winners.

We omitted to say that Henry Dillstrom acted as umpire of the baseball game. One of the teachers kindly consented to do so, but when the time came for the game, she begged so earnestly to be excused that Henry Dillstrom agreed to act in her place.

When Mr. Campbell arrived at the Small Boys' Home Sunday morning and learned of the races, he gave the winners fifty cents towards a treat for the next day, for which, the boys extend a vote of thanks.

When a big boy in one of the upper grades does not return to school after recess, remaining out without permission, it shows that his school education is doing him very little good. He had better work all day.
