

INDUSTRIAL NOTES

Wm. Watkins was repairing the bus Monday.

The gardeners are now busy hoeing potatoes.

The Mitchell Hall floors were waxed and oiled last week.

Mr. Mann repaired the one-horse lawn mower last week.

James Benjamin was trimming the hedges Monday afternoon.

Leonard McDaniels has taken Pasehal George's place in the kitchen.

The farmers started to bail the hay down at the lake last Tuesday.

Jasper Grant works in the wood shed in the afternoons. He certainly makes the wood fly.

John Mason is still repairing the seeder. He is doing fine work on it. Stay with it John.

Wallace Burse, who has been working in the kitchen, is now working for Mr. Bowen.

Alden Clark was fixing up some cushions to be put on the seats of the carry-all, Monday.

Henry Oleson and Reginal Downie painted the disc harrow last Tuesday morning.

Everybody is getting ready for Commencement. Different parts of the grounds are being fixed.

The laundry girls did up the curtains for the Small Boys' Home and Mitchell Hall this week.

Michel Wilson Jr., was using a one-horse mowing machine on the lawn by the employes' building Tuesday.

Leonora Rainville keeps her tables very nice in the dining room. She always keeps flowers on the tables.

Annie Evans is working in the dining room. She is very careful so as not to spoil any of the dishes.

Mr Swain and a company of small boys were cleaning the yard back of the industrial shops Tuesday morning.

Orin French shod Mr. Cooper's horse last Tuesday morning. Orin is improving rapidly in his trade, blacksmithing.

Ed. Ainsworth painted some of the furniture of Miss Royer's school room. Miss Royer is pleased with his work.

Last Monday Ruther Jake and Leo Barnaby cleaned up the trash and leveled the grounds around the new bachelors' cottage.

Henry Franklin is very busy these days painting the wood work of the open air sanitarium. He being the only one in Mr. Woodin's morning detail.

Eugene Anderson can be seen early in the mornings, before breakfast time, hauling wood for the engineering dept. Eugene likes to work quite well.

We are pleased to note the rapid progress of the open air sanitarium. It is now enclosed with a wire fence, which was put up by Elmer Henry and Edw. Evans. These two boys are showing great skill in doing their work under the instruction of Mr. Mudge. The rough carpenter work now nearing completion. William Kipling and Louis Pelletier are the boys who are willingly assisting the carpenter.