Chemawa always was up-to-date. Our open air sanitorium is only another evidence of her up-to-date-ness. This idea is rapidly spreading and soon will be universally adopted, but Chemawa has been quietly working along these lines for years.

OREGON ROSES. In the September issue of the Ladies' Home Journal will be found an advertisement, "Hat Pins made of Real Roses". The advertisement then goes on to say: "The roses used are grown in Oregon, famous all over the world for their beauty and superiority. Being made out of live roses there can be no two alike, etc." Chemawa has the roses, bushels of them; if we only had the process we'd send our friends hat pins plucked from Chemawa's bushes.

TO INDIAN PARENTS OF GIRLS.

Do you want your daughter to be a good cook, a good dressmaker, a good nurse or a good housekeeper? This while she is getting her book education? If so, then send her to Chemawa for a term. Write to Supt. Edwin L. Chalcraft, Chemawa, Oregon, for information. Do this at once, Chemawa is not excelled by any school in these lines.

TO INDIAN PARENTS OF BOYS.

Do you want your boys to learn a good trade, or to be instructed in farming or in the care of an orchard or dairy? If so, send him to Chemawa so he may receive such instruction that will enable him to be a self supporting citizen of this country of ours. Give your boy the best chance you can.

TO OUR INDIAN YOUNG MEN AND WOMEN WHO ARE 18 YEARS OF AGE.

Read what we have said above to Indian parents of boys and girls. Do you want this chance? If so, write to Supt. Edwin L. Chalcraft, Chemawa, Oregon.

Mr. Chalcraft has just received a letter from Louise Murray who returned to her home at Shakan, Alaska, a few weeks ago. She is enjoying the company of her mother and other relatives, but would enjoy meeting her school companions again. Her many friends look forward to her returning to Oregon.

By the time this issue of the paper reaches our readers, W. D. Lovell, the contractor for the extension to Chemawa's Engineering Department, will be on the grounds and the work under way. This improvement will add much to the perfection of Chemawa's Engineering Department.

The Boys' Gymnasium will be one of the pleasures at Chemawa the coming term. Equipped as it is with its spacious floor and gallery, its bath and dressing rooms, it certainly is not excelled by any institution in the Northwest.
