Brevities

Mrs. Fickle and a force of small girls are busy picking up prunes.

We are all pleased to have Belle Dillstrom back in our midst this week.

Quite a number of Eastern visitors visited the school Monday afternoon.

Agnes Steel, a new pupil from Oroville, California, arrived Sunday morning.

Miss Cora E. Steponeck made a flying visit to Woodburn and return Tuesday morning.

Mrs. John Armstrong, of Wallace, Idaho, is visiting her sister, Miss Mary Olive Skipton.

Michel Wilson, returned last week and is again in the harness shop. Michel is now down in the hop fields with the crew, picking hops.

Query:—If 17 little boys pick 133 boxes of prunes in half a day, and 15 little girls pick 33 boxes in the same time, who are the fastest pickers?

Last week the kitchen force was busy canning, perserving and making butter out of Chemawa's large pear crop, and there are still many pears yet to harvest.

Mrs. Brewer, Mrs. Liphart, Mrs. Cooper and Miss Skipton and Mrs. Teabo are all busy putting up preserves and canning pears and making thousands of gallons of prune butter for winter use for the pupils

Mr. Raymond Van Velder of San Bernardino, California, now in the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Portland, Oregon, was the guest of Caroline P. Koester Sunday.
