

PUPILS' ITEMS

We have new books in our grade now.
—D. B.

We are all glad that Christmas is coming soon.—J. J.

Miss Earlougher is good to the boys and girls in the third grade.—A. R.

Annie Sherman is doing fine with her dress making. Miss Brown is very proud of her.—A. M.

Leon Reinkin is a fine tenor singer, you ought to have heard him last Monday night.—G. W.

We are all glad to see Fred Lewis is in school again, after being absent a few days from illness.—V. C.

Hary Queachpalma, Walter Miller, and Archie Lane report that they will return to school soon.—J. D.

Leanore Rainville and Adaline Lott are now working in the dining hall and they like the work very well.—A. B.

All the girls in the small girls' home are glad to hear that their building is going to be repaired this year.—M. F.

We are all glad that the societies have again started, so get to work and get the new pupils to join your society.
—L. B.

Letters were received from Peter Seltice, Robert Davis and Alfred Lane. They all extend greetings to Chemawa.
—J. D.

Matilda Gibeau is now working in the dining hall. Matilda is a very good worker and Miss Skipton is very proud of her.—N. J.

Reginald Downie and Jasper Grant have entered the harness shop and intend to become good harness makers some day.—C. Q. L.

We are glad to see so many new pupils coming to school at Chemawa. And we also are glad to see Philip Purns back again at school.—A. A.

Lillie Burns is working down at the laundry and likes her work very much, and Mrs. Woods is very proud of her for what she is doing at the laundry.—N. B.

Our studies this year are very difficult, but the harder they are the more interesting they are and that makes us feel like studying harder.—M. L.

I received my shirts this morning from the laundry and I was very glad, when I saw how well they were laundered. You cannot ask for any better laundry work than the laundry girls in Chemawa do.—T. F.

When Columbus was a little boy he sat out on a wharf and watched the ships on the ocean. He said, "When I get big, I am going to be a sailor." when he was a man Queen Isabella gave him three ships and he went across the ocean and he thought the land he found was India.—M. B.

Mr. Henderson has a large supply of wood sawed for his winter's use.

The lecture given by Mr. Enright on Monday evening was enjoyed by all who were present. His lecture was very interesting as well as instructive.

The reading room at Mitchell Hall is now open under the management of Mr. Larsen. Anybody having periodicals or other reading matter to donate please remember that it will be gladly accepted.
