

LOCALS

Frank Delawar, Mrs. Liphart's son, and his wife and son, were visitors last Sunday from Portland.

Table and Cora Picard came from St. Paul, Ore., to attend school and are well pleased with Chemawa.

Archie and Guy Russie, Philip Purns, George Scott, Gideon Hanbury, and Edward Ainsworth returned from their vacation last week.

The following boys were admitted last week: David Leno, Ralph and Ernest Copeland, Frank and Lawrence Smith from Grande Ronde, Oregon; Louis Hudson, Robert Dundas, Gordon Williams, Willie Bain, Willie Gibson and Jacob Scott from Alaska; Elmer Plucker and Ray Picard from Pendleton, Oregon.

CUTTING TABLE CLIPPING.

It is with pleasure that the Tailor Shop extends a hearty welcome to our former classmate, Gideon Hanbury, and we trust that this boy will grow into what he promised as a small boy.

Ever since school opened there has been a constant demand for school and uniform suits and trousers to supply all the new pupils, and some of the old as well, and consequently we have been very busy; a condition that we like very much for one never can tell just what a boy is capable of until you push him at his work. And the tailor shop is pleased to say that it contains some pushers when it comes to business.

A visit to the Tailor Shop on Monday morning would have found Alex Cajete at the cutting table designing a draft for a double breasted coat and vest and a pair of peg top trousers (a la London style) for himself, as he has authority from the office in the form of an order to do so. Well, we will wait and see, and like the man from Missouri, ("we will show you") but space and time will not permit us to tell all of it, so we will close by inviting the American reporter to call again next week.

PECULIAR TREES

The breadfruit tree of Ceylon is very remarkable. Its fruit is baked, and eaten as we eat bread and is equally good and nutritious. In Barbuto South America, is a tree which, by piercing the trunk, produces milk, with which the inhabitants feed their children. In the interior of Africa is a tree which produces excellent butter. It resembles the American oak, and its fruit, from which the butter is prepared, is not unlike olive. Park, the great traveler, declared that the butter surpassed any made in England from cow's milk. At Sierra Leone is the cream fruit tree, the fruit of which is quite agreeable in taste.

At Table Bay, near the Cape of Good Hope, is a small tree the berries of which make excellent candles. It is also found in the Azores. The vegetable tallow tree also grows in Sumatra, in Algeria and in China. In the island of Chusan large quantities of oil and tallow are extracted from its fruit, which is gathered in November or December, when the tree has lost all its leaves. The bark of a tree in China produces a beautiful soap. Trees of the sapindus or soap berry order also grow in the north of Africa. They are amazingly prolific, and their fruit contains about 38 per cent of coponin.
