Do We Want The Law Enforced?

That Americans are awakening to the sanctity of law is everywhere manifest. That we know the value of law-enforcement we have learned in the expensive school of experience. For years we sat by and watched law breakers, big and little, wink the other eye and disregard the law. We saw both the smooth, dressed-up, and the rough, redshirted anarchists trampling the law under foot. But an enraged public sentiment has arisen to bruise the head of outlawry with its heel. No longer can we look with indifference and inaction upon the law breaker. And it is well. We have learned that the law of the land is our bulwark of defence. By law in our democracy we live and move and have our being. By law, life is enhanced and the pursuit of happiness is assured. The officer who is sworn to enforce the law and sleeps at his post endangers our welfare. The officer who will swear allegiance to the law and who will set himself to the task of fearlessly enforcing it, is our best friend and we welcome him with open arms—Pacific Searchlight.

CHEMAWA SECOND VS. JUNCTION CITY—SCORE 36 TO 0.

Chemawa's Second added another victory to our string by defeating the Junction City High last Saturday by a score of 36 to 0.

The Junction City boys were out-classed, but still they played a quick, snappy game. Our second never played a better game. They bucked the line, ran the ends and used the quarter-back kick and delayed pass for gains time and again. There was a lack of fumbling by both sides, as the field was dry and the weather ideal.

The game opened by our boys kicking off to Junction, who immediately started to buck the line for gains. After advancing the ball about thirty yards, Whitney of Junction got away for a 50-yard run and landed the ball on the 15-yard line. Then Chemawa held and took the ball on downs. From that time on it was only a question as to how big the score would be. Clark soon made a pretty field goal and before the half ended "Rink" was pushed over for a touchdown and Lewis kicked goal, making the score 10 to 0.
