

PUPILS' ITEMS

I have been here in Chemawa two weeks and like the school very much.—G. K.

The engineering department has the largest detail of boys; it now numbers thirty-two.—M. S.

Emma Havard is a sweet singer. She entertains the girls with her Indian songs every evening.—C. V.

Alice Chalcraft is expecting to go to Portland Friday evening to visit her cousin, Mrs. Bristow.—N. S.

Elmer Sorahan returned to Chemawa last Sunday from Susanville, Cal., and has entered the Seventh Grade.—H. D.

Several new boys have arrived at Chemawa lately. We boys from Miles were glad to welcome the boys from our home.—F. L.

This is a rushing week for Old Santa Claus, as he is very busy in room no. 7 at the McBride Hall, marking presents for the pupils.—M. M.

The small girls have a magic lantern in their building and they have shows every night. They pay for admission with two marbles.—A. S. G.

Frank Coburn, a former student of Chemawa, who has had some experience in playing football, is coaching the Klamath Agency football team.—M. G.

Those of us who have radiators in our rooms appreciate the instruction given by Mr. Campbell on how to avoid water running from the radiator and how to keep heat in it.—A. B.

Company A and B had a game with the Band boys' football team Saturday, but Company A and B were defeated by the score of 11 to 0. This was the first football game for the band boys this year.—A. F.

Brevities

The band boys and a pick up team played an exciting game of foot ball last Saturday. The score was 11 to 0 in favor of the band boys.

The appearance of Jack Frost makes some of the boys look back to those good old swimming days of last summer when they threw their coats and shoes in the hazel brush along the road side.

What is the matter with the employes foot ball team? Only two men are doing anything. Dr. Lieurence is preparing drugs and bandages, and Mr. Mann runs two miles every morning. That will never defeat the first team.

Assistant Supt. Campbell gave some important advice Monday evening about the care and heating of radiators. Wednesday evening Jack Frost gave us a like warning and reminded us that a few more blankets wouldn't be bad.
