CHEMAWA-ALBANY COLLEGE.

Last Thursday evening our boys went to Albany to play the Albany College five. On our arrival there we were greeted with placards with this sign, "To Arms, the Indians are Coming, See the Redskins try to Scalp the College Lads." There is little to tell of the details of the game, as we simply out-played them in the first half of the game so that when time was called the score stood 17 to 5. In the second half we sent in Clements in Powers' place at center so as to give him practice and being a new man at the game he did exceptionally well. In this half, with the assistance of the scorer, the Albany lads gained on us and it looked as if we had made a mistake in trying our new man, but all is well that ends well, and time was called before more damage could be done. The game ending with a score of 23 to 22. We then hustled for a roof to shelter our glad-hearted boys; leaving next morning for Philomath.

CHEMAWA-PHILOMATH.

On our arrival at Philomath we were met by the manager of the team and escorted to the hotel and after dinner we were told that we could have the gymnasium whenever we wanted to use it and that the college boys would give way to our practice. We were invited to witness a practice game between the second and third teams of the College and then went to the hotel to rest for our game. We were greeted with cheers when we made our appearance on the floor and when the game was called we found our opponents were nearly all six-footers, to our little fellows whose heads barely came to their opponents' shoulders, but what we lacked in height we made up in team work and it was said by most of the critics that our boys displayed better team work, than the College team, but—we could not find the basket. The first half ended with a score of 20 16 to against us. The second half was as exciting as the first. At one time the score being tied. The college team made three baskets in succession at this point and held the lead until the end, when the score stood 34 to 31 in their favor. The feature of the evening was the good-natured crowd who cheered every good play made by either team and our boys will remember the game at Philomath. Those who made the trip were Captain Souvigner, Smoker, Clark, Powers, Charles, Clements, French and Mr. Larsen.
