

PUPIES' ICEMS

Sadie Durkee is working at Mr. Campbell's cottage.—S. B.

Douglas Luke says he likes to work in the tailor shop.—W. G.

The band company is getting so large that it has four sergeants.—Q. Z.

Joe Bittles says he is going to learn a trade so he can earn some money.—F. W.

I have been here in Chemawa a month and like it very much. We have very cold weather this week.—L. B. P.

A card was received from Hazel Butler, in which she stated that she would return to Chemawa soon.—H. D.

The set of books has arrived for the engineer boys which they will use when the instruction room is completed.—M. C. S.

Mrs. Campbell came into the 5th grade room and gave us some good advice about keeping ourselves from getting sick.—M. J.

Well, this year we bakers are turning out very good bread. It seems as if it is getting colder to me. It is eight below zero.—S. V.

A number of girls, chaperoned by Miss Bender, were out coasting at the lake. All reported having a very good time.—L. W.

Dollie Case was the teacher of the fifth grade this morning during the absence of Miss Greer, who was assisting Mrs. Theisz.—M. M.

Joe Charles and Robert Gregory are keeping up the fire in the potato house these cold nights so as to keep the potatoes from freezing.—W. L.

As a result of quarterly examinations held during the past week, Henry Darnell received the highest average in the 8th Grade, while Henry Olson led in the 7th.

We have a new teacher, Miss Greer, in the fifth and sixth grades, and the girls all like her because she is very kind and good to the children in her grades.—L. B.

After buying the material for making the class pennant, the seventh grade had enough money left from their collection to get a very pretty picture for the school room.

LOCALS

Mr. and Mrs. Morrisette, who were down here on a visit, went back to their home in Athena, Ore.

Tommie Case has turned his room into a bird cage. He has a dozen birds of different kinds ranging in size from crows down to chickadees.

We are pleased to acknowledge the receipt of "The Thrifget," a paper recently established at Sitka, Alaska, and "Devoted to the Interests of the Native People of Alaska." From its contents we believe it will prove of value in its field and The American certainly wishes it "success and a long life."

The 10:45 A. M. south bound passenger train was delayed at Chemawa for two hours Sunday. The locomotive jumped the track when pulling on the side-track to let the north bound overland pass. The accident was caused by a mistake in handling the switch. No one was injured. Some of the passengers were much pleased with the beautiful surrounding here and were not backward when it came to asking questions about the school. Many expressed their desire to enroll for the winter.