Farmers vs. Blacksmiths.

On Saturday afternoon the farmers' football team put on their fighting garments and went forth to meet the mighty smithies in their annual game for an oyster supper. Now there is joy in the farmers' camp and Mr. Swartz is as happy as can be.

Minesinger for the blacksmiths kicked off to Clark, who returned the ball 10 yards. In the next play Smoker gets away for 25 yards and the Farmers' stock goes up a few points, but the next play a fumble is made but recovered and they are forced to punt. The Blacksmiths are held for downs and Minesinger kicks out of bounds. The Farmers kick and Burke is nailed in his tracks. On cross-bucks Mason and Burke make 9 yards, but fail to negotiate the 10th. Farmers attempt to punt, but Finley passes the ball over Wilson's head and causes the Farmers to lose 15 yards. They try two downs and only make 1 yard and are forced to punt. Blacksmiths are held for downs and Burke kicks to Clark, who returns it 6 yards. The Farmers fail to gain and punt; Mason returns 5 yards. French loses two yards and Burke kicks to Clark, who returns it 7 yards. Wilson punts. The Blacksmiths try a forward pass, but French fails to hold the slippery pigskin and it goes to the Farmers, who try a trick play, but the Blacksmiths break it up. On the next attempt the Farmers try the "Farmers' Spread" and Wilson gains yardage. Clark and Bill Bailey try for gains and again the "Farmers Spread" is used for a gain of 20 yards. At this stage of the game things looked like a touchdown for the Farmers, but as usual at the critical point some one fumbled and in this case French recovered the fumble and the blacksmiths immediately punted out of danger. Wilson returns the ball 15 yards. Smoker makes 11 more and Bailey adds 4 more; Clark fumbles. Mason, Burke and Paul Queachpalma were sent along at a good clip for 24 yards, but lost the ball on a fumble. The farmers started what looked like a hard play to stop, but when the heap was pulled apart the crowd nearest the goal found that no one had the ball. Clark having made only four yards.

The next play the Farmers fumbled and the Blacksmiths immediately got busy and sent Mason through the line
