

INDUSTRIAL NOTES

BY PUPILS

Eleanor Zimmerman works in the laundry.

Martha Decker is working in the sewing room

Willie Foster says he likes to work in the garden.

Thomas Flurry is the morning engineer this week.

Peter La Moose is a faithful worker in the kitchen.

Philip Moss is the morning fireman at the power house.

Sallie Boswell is working in Miss Brown's sewing room.

The inside work on the new power house is almost completed.

The sewing room girls are very busy this week making basketball suits.

Harry Queachpalma has charge of the gardeners during Mr. Westley's absence.

Edward Evans and Alex Arquette are doing carpenter work in the power house.

The tailor boys are working on a rush order, making school suits for the large boys.

The gardeners are now plowing the clover field, which is next to the street car line.

Jane Bailey works in the sewing room. Josie Harris is the orderly in the big sewing room.

Orin French is making a picture frame for framing a picture for the Senior and Junior class room.

Eugene Williams and Lee Evans are painting the wood-work in the engineering department.

Frank Patrovitch is busy making a corner shelf in the carpenter shop this week for Pete Chevio.

Mr. Gordon's force of plumber boys are busy repairing the water pipes after the cold days are over.

The engineer department closed down for some time Monday morning to connect pipes on the boilers.

Thos. McCully is working for Mr. Barthalow, the contractor who has the work on the power house.

Work was delayed for several hours Monday at the laundry while the engineers were connecting pipes.

The blacksmiths are working on new wagons and doing considerable repair work for the farming department.

Barney Vincent and Wallace Farrow say they are going to be first class plumbers before they resign from the shop.

The plumbers are laying pipes at the dairy house and barn in place of those which bursted during the cold weather.

James Smith, George Cross, Frank Patrovich and Andy Walker are putting new panes in the windows at Brewer Hall.

Alex Lee is kept busy in the carpenter shop shaping posts for the new fence which will soon be made around the industrial building.

Mr. Mudge and his boys are doing carpenter work in the power house. They made a walk over the pump pit and stairways at different places.

Joe Wiggins, Antoine Francis, Robert Gregory, Joe Charles, Loulin Brewer, Willie Flett, Harvey Ashue and James Benjamin are the morning gardeners.