

LOCALS

Esther Napoleon's piano solo was very much enjoyed by the audience on Monday evening.

Carl Stone, who has been Mr. Smith's faithful office boy for the past two months, is now in the printing office doing his usual good work.

March comes in like a lion this year and will no doubt go out like a duck, as the weather is generally very favorable for ducks until the latter part of April.

The British Lion which comes in with March this year frightened the American eagle from his perch over the main entrance Wednesday afternoon. He has witnessed all the traveling through the gateway, and the coming of Leo for thirteen years without a sign of fear. The thirteenth year is the unlucky one which accounts for his misfortune.

The Chemawa Second team played two games away from home last week. Playing with the All-Stars of Independence on last Friday night and the All-Stars of Monmouth, Saturday night. They report having had a delightful time on the trip with Mr. Enright, who was with the team, excepting the result of the games, which at Independence was 23 to 21 against Chemawa, and at Monmouth they received their Waterloo, the score being 28 to 8. However as it was our Second team, the boys do not feel bad, as in the Monmouth game they were out-classed in size and weight.

William Hunt, ex-pupil and employee of Chemawa, and at present industrial teacher at Warm Springs, dropped in on a visit to his friends last Sunday. With him were Nellie Polk, Ida Palmer, and Elizabeth Meachem who were pupils from the Warm Spring School. William's friends were glad to see him looking so well.

Mr. Bardwell of Washington arrived at the school yesterday on a visit to Clarence, who was very glad to see him. Charley came with him and his friends were pleased to see him back at Chemawa.

Mary S. Gregory arrived at the school last Sunday to go on with her studies. If all pupils had the difficulties to overcome in getting to Chemawa that were surmounted by Mary, they would appreciate a great deal more than they do the advantages to be obtained from an education.

CROWS MAKING GOOD.

Alex Upshaw, of the Crow Agency, Montana, made Carlisle a short visit of a couple days this week. Alex is one of a large class of Crows who have left Carlisle and are making men of themselves. He has been, for several years past, a right-hand assistant to Mr. E. S. Curtis in helping him gather material for his great work, "The North American Indian," which is to be issued in thirty volumes and to cost $3,000 per set. Mr. Upshaw is one of the foremost men of his tribe, is industrious and a credit to our school and to his race. He was on his way to Washington and dropped in on us to see Mr. Nori, Mrs. Denny, and several others of "the old guard." It is interesting to hear this ex-student tell of his early experiences, his struggles after leaving school, and of his endeavors to be a credit to his Alma Mater. He says that all the Carlisle Crow students are doing well; as he expressed it: "Everything that is counted a movement of progress on our reservation has a Carlisle man at the head of it."—The Arrow.

Asst. Supt. Campbell read the above with pleasure as he took all of "the old guard" from Crow to Carlisle, and as he expresses it, "They were my boys, and I have watched with pleasure their steady progress onward and upward."
