

INDUSTRIAL NOTES

BY PUPILS

The blacksmith boys were oiling the floors at the hospital, Monday.

The engineers are busy this week repairing one of the boilers.

The engineers are repairing boiler No. 3; putting in a new front and brick work.

David Graham broke the cement foundation under the fire box of boiler No. 3.

Walter Miller and Rhoderick Murcheson are on the fireman's list at the power house this week.

Mr. Burdette and his force are moving the debris and material left over from the power house work.

Alex Lee, who has not been on duty for some time on account of illness, is again working in the bakery.

Mr. Cooper and his afternoon detail had one of the hose carts giving the cow barn a general clean-up Monday.

Mr. Burdette and his force hauled several loads of brick bats on the road entrance near the southeast corner of Mitchell hall.

The Blacksmithing force were painting a few days this week in order to get some necessary painting finished at the hospital during the good weather.

FIRST BASEBALL GAME.

The first baseball game of the season was played between the Band boys and Company B nines last Saturday afternoon. The teams were evenly matched and the game was close and exciting throughout, Company B winning by a score of 9 to 8.

The tooters were two scores to the good in the last of the eighth. La-Chapelle was sending the ball for all he was worth, and only a few scattered hits were booked up against him. When Charles, the first man to the bat in the ninth inning, was returned before reaching the initial bag, things looked rather gloomy for the Bs and they began to gather their mitts and bats, and their enthusiastic followers began to leave the grandstand. In the meanwhile Darnell, the trustworthy twister, and who afterwards proved himself to be the eagle-eyed lobster for the Bs, made a trip to the plate, landing a beautiful single. Smoker repeated the play. By this time the "air" of the musicians had changed, and their faces were as gloomy as an Alaskan fog. Drum-major LaChapelle had lost his graceful twist when Clark came to the bat hammering the ball out for a two-bagger. The band had reached a "high pitch" by this time and Darnell was marching home. Harry, who was several feet from the grandstand, tossed the ball several feet above Teabo's head and before he could recover it Smoker and Clark crossed the plate. With the Bs one run in the lead, the musicians came to the bat for the last time and fell easy victims to Darnell's pitching.

BATTALION NOTES.

The four Companies of the battalion commenced drilling Tuesday morning and did excellent work for the first time.

The companies march out of the dining hall in double file now and it is a great improvement over the old way of marching single file.

The battalion marches to the dining hall and chapel in regulation style, which is a much better way than each company marching several minutes apart, as they did before.
