

LOCALS

Mr. Swartz is now in charge of the Mess club.

Frank Cox has entered the engineering department.

Manuel Swanson is engineer on the morning list.

William Ingram spent Friday evening at the school.

Mr. Larsen spent Saturday in Portland with his brother.

The pie house is still patronized by most of our five-mile runners.

Mr. and Mrs. Fairchild were here from Siletz last week on a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith are again boarding at the Employes' building.

The band just received a number of religious and sacred selections.

Mr. Henderson treated the Mess club to ice cream on Easter Sunday.

Ida Johnson finished her sergeant uniform, doing a neat piece of work.

Mrs. F. W. Steusloff, cousin of Miss Skipton, was out from Salem, Monday.

The Easter dinner given by some of the girls to their brothers was quite a success.

The girls' cheerful voices were greatly missed at the ball game last Saturday.

Albert LaChapelle was visited by friends from his home last Sunday afternoon.

The band boys still enjoy playing basketball these evenings when they have nothing to do.

The marching of the girls last week to Sunday school was very good, as they all appeared in their uniforms.

Lee Evans is still improving in playing on the slide trombone. He will soon be able to take the second chair of that section.

Mr. Henderson borrowed Michel Wilson's Edison Phonograph and enjoyed a little music at his own home Sunday evening.

James Moses is still on the sweepers' detail at Mitchell Hall, which goes to say that he can certainly keep the building clean.

Why is it that each department does not elect a reporter and let your shop be heard from in the "American." It is easy to do.

Mrs. Mann was out Sunday afternoon with her kodak. We expect to see a fine lot of postals at the South cottage in the near future.

Miss Skipton received a postal from Hazel Picard, who states she is glad to get home but, is somewhat homesick for Chemawa.

Harry and Paul Queachpalma were invited to an Easter dinner given by William Westley, son of our gardener, John Westley.

Miss Skipton took Lizzie Martin and Ida Johnson out to Old Chemawa for a walk last Sunday and they returned with many flowers.

The first team played a game with a picked team from our school, as no second team has yet been organized, which ended with a victory for the first team.

Spring is just about here. Nearly all kinds of wild flowers are in bloom, most of the trees have turned green with their new leaves and the fruit trees white or pink with their blossom, which makes us wish that now was the time for our vacation.
