

Brevities

George Perry is doing a fine job washing the outside walls of the back part of Brewer Hall.

Mr. Burdette and his force of boys are still working on the new tennis grounds back of the superintendent's cottage.

Mr. Westley says he wishes the rain would come down and water the strawberry patch, which he has just put out.—A. S.

Fortunato Jayme showed his kindness this morning by setting the Mitchell Hall clock with his watch, which proved to be a few minutes fast.

I am glad I have learned a little about dressmaking at Chemawa. Since I have been at Chemawa, I have been working in the sewing room.—B. M.

As the number of band members increased this year, several of the boys who had no band uniforms had their measurements taken for a band uniform.—A. C.

All the boys who had no tickets to see the ball game had to enjoy themselves hauling wood, as a result of disobeying orders and being away from their work.—P. H. P.

The Juniors are hard at work every morning spading the ground where they are going to plant their garden. Stay with it, Juniors, you will have the best garden yet.—E. W.

The first baseball team was defeated by the University of Oregon boys, last Saturday morning; score 16 to 3. In the next game that Chemawa plays we hope to see Chemawa in her old form again.—A. S.

Mrs. Donald P. Campbell left for her home in Spokane last Saturday, after a visit of three weeks. She is missed by the many new friends she made while at Chemawa. She said that she had a very pleasant time during the whole visit.—V. C.

Edward Evans made a knife in the blacksmith shop for Mr. Burdette and his crew to cut sod with. It certainly is a beauty. He will soon make another one which will probably be seen at the Seattle Fair next summer. Ed is getting to be a fine blacksmith and without a doubt he will be a first class workman when he leaves Chemawa.

LIVE ITEMS.

There will be a band concert tomorrow evening in the school chapel.

John T. Welsh is temporarily filling the position of assistant engineer, vice Mr. Beck.

Tennis is in full blast on the Campbell court, Mr. Campbell coming in second best against Miss Irene's volleys.

The tennis court to the rear of the Superintendent's cottage is about completed, and will be an excellent dirt court.

The final try-out for the Salem-Portland relay race will be held on Monday next, after which the team to represent Chemawa will be selected.

The relay stakes will be placed tomorrow. The same route and stations will be used as last year. The entire distance being 51.3 miles from the steps of the capitol building in Salem, where the Governor will start the runners to the Y. M. C. A. building in Portland, where the Governor's message will be handed to Mayor Lane of Portland by the last runner of the successful team.
