Chemawa Indian School.

Chemawa Indian school is located on the main line of the Southern Pacific railroad five miles north of the City of Salem, the capital of Oregon. It is the only Indian industrial school in the northwest corner of the United States where you can get an industrial education. Many Indian young men, who were graduated from Chemawa, have good positions as blacksmiths, mill men, tailors, engineers, electricians, farmers, and in many other businesses earning a good living for themselves. The Literary instruction covers the branches taught in grammar schools of the country. THE REQUIREMENT—You must be, AT LEAST, one-fourth Indian; healthy and not under fourteen or over eighteen years.

The Girls

The Girls, first of all are taught to be good house-keepers, to which is added special instruction in Dressmaking, Tailoring and Nursing. The School has a Domestic Science Department.

The Boys

The Boys are also taught Farming, Dairying, Gardening, Carpentering, Wagon making, Blacksmithing, Shoe and Harness Making, Tailoring, BAKING, Steam and Electrical Engineering, Plumbing. If you want this chance write to the Superintendent.

Special Notice

New regulations have been made concerning the transfer of Indian pupils to non-reservation schools such as Chemawa. Instead of Superintendents sending out teachers and other representatives to collect pupils the Indian parents and pupils themselves must apply to the agent or Superintendent of the reservation and under the rules the agent or Superintendent will arrange to send the pupils to the non-reservation school.

If you wish to come to Chemawa, or have children you desire to send, write to Supt. Edwin L. Chalcraft, Chemawa, Oregon, and tell your agent or Superintendent that you want him to arrange for you to come and he will arrange.

Those who do not live on reservations will come to Chemawa as before by writing to the Superintendent of the School.

Any letter written to Chemawa will receive a prompt reply.
