

LOCALS

Do you know who caused the rain last week?

Fortunato Jayme is now working for Mr. Henderson.

Joseph Dillstrom went to Salem on Monday afternoon.

Alden Clark lost a pair of shoes and as a result he is now wearing No. 9s.

Miss Grear helped Mrs. Campbell with the demonstrations for commencement.

Mr. Frank Rabbie is here this week visiting the school and his two sons, Elmer and David.

Martin Colby and Arthur Steele, who are Mrs. Campbell's orderlies, enjoyed a dinner at her house on Friday.

Alfred Lane came over from his home at Siletz to attend the commencement exercises. Alfred graduated last year, giving the valedictory.

The seniors' class pins arrived on Friday. They are beautiful pins of solid gold. Colors, purple and gold, with C. I. S. and '09 engraved upon them.

At the senior party given by Mr. and Mrs. Campbell the rooms were decorated with nasturtiums, purple pansies, purple sweet peas, and yellow and purple dahlias. Flowers were everywhere. We think our class colors show up fine this year.

The Senior Class presented a very fine appearance as they sat on the platform on Sunday afternoon during the baccalaureate sermon. The sixteen boys and five girls are good representatives of what Chemawa accomplishes for those who stay until they graduate.

Father Datin preached his usual excellent sermon to the Catholic boys and girls on Sunday morning. His theme this time was modesty and politeness. If the Catholic boys did not treat the commencement visitors with courtesy and respect it will not be Father Datin's fault.

Quite a number of visitors were with Mr. Chalcraft and Mr. Campbell last Sunday on inspection. They were Colonel Pringle, Mr. and Mrs. Peasley, Miss Peasley, Alice Chalcraft, Mr. William Ingram of Salem, the non-commissioned officers, Mrs. Campbell and the graduates.

The Seniors appreciated the excellent talk of Rev. Errett who delivered the baccalaureate sermon on Sunday. They take this opportunity of thanking him and also express their appreciation of the kind remarks he made to them after the sermon. Thank you, Mr. Errett. We will try to deserve your good opinion.

The Juniors held a class meeting on Monday afternoon of this week and elected their officers for the ensuing year, when they will be seniors. The following officers were elected: President, Orin French; Vice-president, Dollie Case; Secretary, Amos Smoker; Treasurer, Harry Jones; Historian, Frank Souvigner.

Mrs. Campbell is congratulated by every one for the excellent singing of the choir on Sunday. The difficult music "Holy Art Thou", the Largo by Handel, and "The Heavens are Declaring" by Beethoven, were a surprise to those who heard the superior singing. Perfect time, fine modulation, good tones, and clear articulation testified to the drill the choir had received.
