

LOCALS

Miss Steponeck is enjoying her vacation.

Harvey Wright is now working in the bakery.

Miss Evelyn Woods is visiting friends in Cloverdale, Tillamook County.

New steps were put in at the boys' entrance to the dining hall this week.

Mr. Louis Larsen was visiting his brother, Charlie, one day last week.

Theodore Schelikoff is in charge of the bakery while Mr. Teabo is on his vacation.

Mr. Lansing put ventilators in the foundation of the dining room and kitchen this week.

The farmers have finished haying at the lower farm and will soon start to haul bailed hay to Salem.

Mr. Swaboda, who has charge of the harness shop, began on his annual leave of absence last Monday.

Mr. Chas. Woods left Sunday for Tillamook, Oregon, to spend his vacation on a tour of inspection in that section.

Eugene Williams, David Graham and Frank Souvigner left for Jones' hop yard on Monday, where they will spray hops.

Mr. and Mrs. Frye, who have been boarding at the "Mess" for several months, have started housekeeping for themselves.

Mr. Van Tassel, with the assistance of a boiler-maker from Salem, is busy putting new tubes in boiler No. 1 at the power house.

Now that the farmers are through haying and teams can be had, the boys are getting anxious about taking an outing at Silver Creek Falls.

In a letter just received from Mr. Moran, who formerly was engineer at Chemawa, announcement is made of the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Moran have left Bay City and are now residents of Portland.

A number of people from various eastern states have visited Chemawa recently and all seem to be agreeably surprised at what they learn while here. There is no use talking, when it comes to a discussion of the beauties of nature Chemawa is in the front rank.

Mr. Howard, of South Bend, Wash., was a visitor at the school during the week, as he is greatly interested in the Riddell children. Mr. Howard also has relatives in Salem and vicinity. He reports that Marie and Ellen Bailey, who went home awhile back are getting along nicely.

"Back East" this time of the year in certain localities is known as "dog days." It is probable that the terms as applied to August weather is accounted for by the fact that heat is often so intense that dogs go mad. We suffer nothing from such causes here in the "Beautiful Willamette Valley."

A dispatch from Klamath agency under date of August 10 says: Work is to be begun at once on the large new school building at the Klamath agency. It will be remembered that last spring fire destroyed the main building used for educational purposes on the Klamath reservation. The contract for the new building has been awarded to W. D. Lovell of Minneapolis, Minn. The building will be commodious and will be modern throughout. It will be of sufficient size to accommodate all future demands.
