NOTABLE VISITORS.

On Monday, of this week, the school was visited by William E. Curtis, a distinguished journalist who has been touring the Northwest in his private car. He was accompanied by his wife and daughter and Mr. McMurray, the General Passenger Agent of the Southern Pacific.

Mr. Curtis and party spent a couple of hours at the school, going through all the departments, and then left for Salem to view the Capitol City and surrounding country.

Mr. Curtis is one of the most widely known newspaper writers in the world, having for many years been chief staff correspondent for the Chicago Record-Herald, with a roving commission which takes him to all the important centers of the world. It is said that he is the only American newspaper man who ever interviewed the late Pope Leo and the Czar of Russia. He is now engaged in writing a series of articles on the industrial development of the West.

LOCALS

Fortunato Jayme spent a few days at the Seattle Fair last week.

Nelse Charles is now in charge of the yard and keeps everything neat and clean.

In a letter received from Violet Berner she states that she is cooking at Holdman, Oregon, earning $2.00 a day.

Mr. Teabo, with five boys returned Thursday from the mountains where they had been spending their vacation.

A number of the Chemawa people attended both the afternoon and evening performances of the Ringling Brothers' circus in Salem on Thursday.

Owing to it being our vacation we know our readers will pardon us if our papershows a lack of news and is a smaller edition than usual, but all our printers are hop-pickers.

Mr. John R. Cox, who was cook at Chemawa, is now Superintendent and Special Disbursing Agent at Mopa, Nevada from which point he writes asking to have his Chemawa American sent.

Joe Dillstrom arrived at Chemawa a few days ago from Yreka, California, where he had gone in company with his sister Helen, who was quite ill. We are pleased to report that Helen is said to be improving in health and hopes are entertained that she will soon recover her youthful vigor.

ELLEN BAILEY.

It is with regret that we report the death of Ellen, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bailey, at her parents' home in Bay Center, Wash. The death occurred during the night of August 24, and resulted from tuberculosis. Interment took place in the Bay Center cemetery on the Thursday following. Ellen was the second of four children and her death was keenly felt by the bereaved parents. As the little girl was at one time a pupil at Chemawa this is sad news for us.
