

INDUSTRIAL NOTES

BY PUPILS

John Ammon has joined the force of Carpenter apprentices.

The dining hall girls are busy making prune butter for the winter use.

The blacksmiths are repairing the hay bailer for the farmers so that in will be ready for next year's work.

LOCALS

Chemawa's bears are fat and sleek, and as lazy as ever.

Mrs. Campbell examined and classified twenty-four new pupils on Monday.

The fall pears were gathered yesterday. The crop amounted to 150 bushels.

The dress-makers were very glad to see Christine Victor back in the sewing room again.

The office orderlies are James Wilcox, James Whitehead, William Ready and Douglas Luke.

Maggie Jerry is back to the sewing room and says she is enjoying her work under her new instructor.

There are only eight members in the Senior class this year. They make up in quality what they lack in numbers.

The school has started again and many new pupils have enrolled here for a good year in classroom and industrial work.

AN OCEAN TRIP.

Here are some of the postals that came from the band boys after they reached Eureka via the Pacific Ocean:

"Hello, I know you won't get any meal today so here goes a card to cheer you up. Just arrived today. Everybody in the ship turned white. Everybody was sea-sick. On the back of this is a picture of the ship upon which I was so sea-sick I could hardly walk. I think I will never go on the ocean again."

"It was a miserable trip coming down, sea-sick, just arrived this morning. Fair starts Monday."

"We are having a good time. Was very sea-sick. Will be back latter part of the month."

"Well we arrived here Friday morning very sea-sick. Will play ball with Eureka tomorrow."

"Well I hope you are over your cold. I fear that we will all be sea sick again going back. Will write again."

"Well, (Chop Suey) how is business, pretty near died on the ocean of sea-sickness."

"What do you think of this pretty place on the back of this card. Say, their were 27 out of 35 sea-sick. It did not bother me in the least. We play ball tomorrow morning and every day next week. The team is pretty weak from seasickness. Did you forget to write me here in two weeks?"

INDIAN STUDENT IN LAW SCHOOL.

James Irving, a full-blood Sioux Indian, has come from Lake Andes, S. D., and registered as a student in the law school of the University of Oregon. He will attend his first recitation today. Irving is the first Indian ever matriculated in the university law school. He has attended the Haskell Institute, has been employed at Genoa, Neb., Indian school, and last year studied law at the Illinois College of Law. He says he intends to return to his home at Lake Andes and practice law after graduating from the Oregon university—Telegram, Portland, Ore.
