WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Chief Rockboy and his band of 125 Chippea braves are now officially at home in their new hunting-grounds on the Blackfeet Reservation in Montana and 1,300,000 acres in Valley County of that state which were withdrawn to make a home for the Indians have been reopened to settlement.

Rockboy and his tribe got a real example of rapid transit in Indian affairs. The department of the Interior had intended to let them locate in Valley County near the Fort Peck Reservation. Some of the white settlers protested and the department became convinced the Redmen would do better in a land where they could hunt and fish. On November 1, Superintendent Logan of the Fort Belknap Indian School was instructed to find a new place for Rockboy and within two weeks he had them all on a special train speeding for the new hunting-grounds on the Blackfeet Reservation.
