

THE GROWTH OF CHEMAWA.

CHEMAWA.

Chemawa in 1880 consisted of three buildings located at Forest Grove, with a capacity of 75 pupils. The school had many vicissitudes and shoals to pass over until 1896, when a steady healthy growth started, and from a small school it has grown to its present size with a capacity of over 600 pupils. Its buildings and equipment have been improved until today Chemawa is one of the best equipped industrial schools in the Indian School Service. A study of the following table tells the story:
