

WOOD BUTCHERS.

Just delivered Mr. Chalcraft's sideboard and china closet. Now we are getting up two hundred chairs for Mitchell Hall. We shall commence a mantel for Mr. Chalcraft's residence soon. We are always busy and would ask the boys to not loaf in our department, as we don't care to invite you out. And we don't want to lose any time, as we have only one-half day in our department and we want to improve our time.

This week will mark the closing of our school Basketball league, which in the opinion of many of its supporters has been very helpful and successful in ways too numerous to mention.

CUTTING TABLE CLIPPINGS.

The tailor shop is, as is usual, pleased to report a very pleasant week in all ways, and for many things we are thankful, among which is the progress of our work and our workmen. In a short time we will be able to point to another of our apprentices who will have progressed in his knowledge of trouser-making sufficiently to enable him to take up the study of the cutting of that garment. This last, but helpful step, enables a boy to feel firm in his understanding of manufacture, for he now can take the raw material, and by the knowledge that he has gained while an apprentice in the tailor shop at Chemawa sponge, cut, trim, make, and deliver a garment that has a marketable value. It is no make-believe; it is a real, dependable, valuable product, with the dollar mark stamped upon his meritorious effort.

Such effort spells the success that will surely come to the boy who toils patiently.

In a recent issue we spoke of Elmer

Dillstrom and Douglas Luke who have commenced to make trousers. Though only a short time has passed, their progress has been so satisfactorily that we like to convey good tidings to their friends, and predict that these two boys will be very successful in the future. In fact, we are surrounded by a class of boys who are skillful, attentive to duty, who are industrious, and dependable. A class of boys that can be trusted to do just what is right, and for this the tailor shop gives thanks for the splendid evidence of the result of the training to be received at Chemawa.

We, the tailor shop, cheerfully extend the crown of victory to the Blacksmiths, who very ably defended their right to try to win, which they did perfectly, without the loss of a game, a very remarkable performance and an achievement seldom performed in athletic sports or games.

But this school demands a knowledge of the best and in order to meet that demand an all-star team has been selected to play the Blacksmiths and that will close the basketball season in a most fitting manner. The all-star team will be composed of the following players subject to the evidence of efforts in the practice work: Luther Clements, Walter Haight, Alden Clark, Thos. Powers and Joe Charles; Ed Staengar (sub) Coaches: Mr Teabo and Mr. Larsen. Hour of practice to be announced by office. Game to be played Monday evening, March 14th, 1910. Referee to be some competent official from Salem.

TAILOR SHOP.

The Tailors are busy making school and uniform suits for the boys and we like to receive orders for suits from the Chemawa boys.—Joe Simpson.
