

PUPIES' ICEMS

The painters have started on the front of the small girls' home.

Mrs. Frank W. Carson, of Toledo, Oregon, was a visitor this week.

The gardeners cultivated the potatoes next to the sanitarium this week.

A number of boys were out picking raspberries for Mr. Hudnel on Monday.

Eugene Anderson did some plumbing work at the Small Girls' Home on Monday.

The farmers hauled goods from the car on the switch to the commissary this week.

Mr. Polson, a farmer, came to the school Monday morning for strawberry pickers.

A new rule has been made concerning berry picking for the boys and went into effect on Monday.

Frank Dan painted the steps and east end of the lavatory part of Brewer Hall Monday morning.

A very neat trough was made by Elmer Plucker in the cabinet making department last week.

John Brown is engineer at the laundry again this week, as he did such good work there last week.

John Rainville was in charge of a number of small boys weeding the onions on Monday morning.

The pupils certainly enjoyed the delicious ice cream served to them on Sunday evening, the treat of John Benson, an ex-pupil, who is now located at Seattle, Wash., earning an honest living for himself.

The hedges in front of Brewer Hall were trimmed last week, which improves the appearance of them very much.

Martin Sampson is back to work again in the engine room after having been laid up for a month with a broken collar bone.

The silver cups and the ten gold medals won by the relay team are on display in the window of Assistant Superintendent Campbell's office.
