Miss Hazel Long, of Salem, is employed in the office at Chemawa at present in the capacity of assistant clerk.

School commenced on Monday morning and the personnel of the corps of teachers was the same as last year.

Mr. Ross Condit, S. P. agent at this place, went to his home south of Salem on Wednesday evening to attend a wedding.

Rev. McGaw, of Portland, conducted our devotional services last Sunday evening. His sermon was both interesting and instructive.

Mr. Reuben Saunders, who was our industrial teacher, temporarily, departed a few days ago for the Tulalip school, where he has the position of engineer.

Miss Bertha Boyd who for many months was an assistant clerk at Chemawa, resigned recently and on Tuesday evening departed for her home in Mescalero, New Mexico. Many friends wish her success in her new environment.

Eddie Lynch arrived at the school on Wednesday from a visit to his home in Wrangell, Alaska. Tommie Case, whose home is in the same place, will return to Chemawa during the last of this month.

Jesse Crook has been among the recent visitors at the school. He came up from Hoopa, California, in charge of a party of students. He is a former Chemawa student and at present is in charge of the shoe and harness shop at Hoopa, where he is getting along nicely. After visiting in Chemawa and Portland for a few days he departed for home Wednesday evening.

Rev. Mr. Goudge, who for three years conducted our Sunday evening services, was out from Salem a week ago for a visit with various friends at school, both employes and pupils. He is at present taking a rest, which he felt to be much needed on account of his many years of continuous hard study. He is at Salem only temporarily. He may always be sure of a warm welcome at Chemawa.

Fortunato Jayme, for ten years a resident of Chemawa, as student and employe, departed on Sept. 28 for his old home in Pilar, Panay Island, P. I. While here he made many warm friends. He was always studious and industrious and we believe he will meet with success in his old home, should he elect to remain there. He was but a little lad when he was brought to the United States with a regiment returning from the Philippines, but he returns to the land of his birth a man. He became so thoroughly Americanized while here that we predict he will feel somewhat a stranger when he reaches the spot which his memory fondly cherishes as "home." He is a printer and is missed by "the boys" and for years to come Fortunato will be remembered by us. He will arrive home during the fore part of November.
