

PUPILS' ITEMS

The football goals were put up last Friday.

Fred Lewis is the best quarter back in Chemawa.

John Steele is the chief engineer on the morning detail.

John Ammon is making clothes horses for the small girls' home.

The friends of Mary Gebeau are expecting her back to school soon.

Fannie Adams is one of Miss Brown's new pupils in the sewing room.

Inez Brewer is taking lessons on the violin and is getting along very nicely.

Martha Alfaro is now working for Mr. Campbell and does her work very nicely.

Miss Bertha Cooper is now assistant laundress and all the girls like her very well.

At the beginning of the school term, on last Sunday, the battalions were in full uniform.

Tillie Reinkin is working in the hospital and she says she likes the work very much.

Joe Simpson is very busy this week cutting out some uniform trousers in the tailor shop.

Peter John and Billy K. Dale, who came last week, have now joined the school band.

Mrs. Campbell says that the pupils are getting along very well in their conduct at school.

Maggie Desautel is kept very busy entertaining her little friends, the mice. Most people are afraid of them, but she thinks they make nice pets.

The first football game of the season was played on Monday afternoon between two teams selected from the boys.

John St. Peters arrived a short time ago and is now working in the blacksmith shop, and is doing well.

We are all glad to see Gertrude and Rachel McCoy return to school again after having spent a pleasant vacation at home.

Anna Buck is teaching the little girls and boys in the afternoons and she is getting along very nicely. She is learning to be a teacher.

We are all glad to see so many boys coming to the school. There is hardly a day passes but some pupils get off the train to stop at Chemawa.

Last week a letter was received from Eva Seymore saying that she will soon be back to Chemawa. She is on a visit in Southern Oregon during her vacation.

Mrs. Dolly Teabo has a pheasant for her pet at the hospital. At first it was very wild, but it is getting tame. Mr. Teabo shoots every pheasant he sees, but that one.

William Dell, a new student at Chemawa whose home is at Ketchikan, Alaska, has entered the tailor shop to learn the tailoring trade. This young man will succeed, as he exhibits a love for labor—a very necessary quality to succeed at this trade.

Annie Buck is very much interested in her music and is trying hard to be about the best player at McBride Hall. She can be heard all over the building singing and amusing the girls. She is good at singing, for she took vocal lessons during her vacation, and since then she has been practicing every day and every chance she has. Mrs. Theiz is proud of her.
