

may be good or evil—make sure that your purpose is a good one. To be devoid of purpose is to lack an aim in life—to be satisfied to drift through life and the world without plan or intent to accomplish anything.

Everything that has ever been accomplished in this world had purpose behind it. Purpose may be confined to individuals, or it may be national or world-wide. If the latter it is proof of a unanimity of intent, design or desire. The person of mature years who possesses no purpose in anything is certainly to be pitied, for he is a weak creature and non-dependable. Have an aim, an object, a purpose in living. Live to do things. Do not "consider" too long, but make up your mind and act. Set yourself at the task of accomplishing a worthy purpose. Get busy—begin today.

PUPILS' ITEMS.

Thos. Williams is getting to be a good baker.

Fred Bain works on the blacksmith detail.

George Haines is now working in the kitchen.

Thos. Jones is getting to be a good gardener.

Mr. Saunders has charge of the paint shop now.

Mr Teabo is coaching the second football team.

William Dell is now working in the tailor shop.

Firman Wilson is the smallest boy in the sixth grade.

Arthur Van Pelt entered the tailor shop on Monday.

Bart Voutrin returned from his home on Monday afternoon.

David Churchill is the morning janitor at the school building.

Some of the band boys cleaned their instruments on Wednesday.

The farmers are now plowing behind the bakery and the laundry.

Ralph and Charles Martin have been added to the tailor shop detail.

Joe Bittles and Firman Wilson are the smallest boys on the farm detail.

Leo Norwest and Joseph Lachance are repairers at the power house this week.

Levi Sorter and Ed. Ainsworth are doing repair work on the grounds this week.

The first social gathering of the school year was held on Tuesday evening of this week.

Every afternoon after school you can see Mr. Fickle with his gun going out hunting.

Mr. Enright is kept very busy this month on account of him being mess manager.

Clyde Field and Charles Scott are the morning wood haulers at the power house this week.

We are all glad to see Ben Bearchild return to school after a visit at his home in Montana.

Gabriel Anderson has been added to the engineering detail and is now fireman in the mornings.

Luther Clements, accompanied by three new pupils, arrived at Chemawa from California last Friday.

We are all glad to see Philip and Aurelias Talbot return to school again. They returned last week.

Joe Purns returned to Chemawa on Sunday after spending his vacation at his home in Washington.