

LOCALS

School and details changed on Monday.

Nelse Charles is now assisting at the wood shed.

The farmers did some cleaning in the hog pen on Monday.

Miss Hazel Long, of Salem, was a visitor at the school on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell attended the Easter services in Salem on Sunday morning.

On Monday afternoon Burney Wilson was taken for a ride out in the country by Mr. Stoudenmeyer in his auto.

Mr. and Mrs. Delavan and their son, Enos, and Mr. and Mrs. Verbisco were here visiting Mrs. Liphart on Sunday.

Miss Florence L. Jones of Hampton, Virginia, is now staying with Mr. and Mrs. Smith. She is a sister of Mrs. Smith.

Three new pupils were enrolled in the school from California this week. They were Myrtle Nuckolls, Nicholas Brown and Lela Freeman.

Easter was a beautiful day—an ideal day for new bonnets, and we saw considerable evidence to the effect that the ladies were awake to the favorable weather conditions.

During Mr. Enright's absence from the tailor shop on Monday afternoon the boys spent the afternoon roaming the wildwood. A very enjoyable time was spent, so says B. Wilson.

Many Chemawa people received Easter cards from their friend, Mrs. Mary Hanahan, who is now in Minneapolis, Minn. They are pleased to find that they are still remembered and gratefully acknowledge the receipt of the cards.

THE DALLAS GAME.

The trip to Dallas on Saturday, April 15, by our first baseball team was made under the most pleasant circumstances possible. To begin with, the day was perfect, and the journey of 16 miles from Salem was made in three two-seated carriages, each containing four people. Leaving Salem at 9 a. m. sharp we arrived in Dallas as the noon whistles blew—just in time for dinner at the Gail Hotel, which is the leading hostelry in the city.

After a very bountiful meal we changed to our new uniforms and every one was proud of his appearance. In fact, our boys made a favorable impression by their appearance, so we heard the people say.

After a short preliminary practice on a very slow diamond the game was called by the umpire who proved himself a very capable official. There were some very close decisions in which it appeared the decision was against us, but the intention of the official was never questioned, as he was above suspicion of being partial.

Our batting was lamentably weak, as a team, and we should devote our practice to batting.

By learning how to hit the ball in a natural, easy manner we can win every game. If we only had a team that would follow the example of Kross, Clements or Pratt when batting! The loss of the game is no disgrace, but we must not lose any game only by the superior merits of our opponents. The score was 5 to 3 in favor of Dallas.
