

LOCALS

Rain on the first of May.

Strawberries and cherries are the next on the program.

The farmers have burned stumps near the hog pen during this week.

The Chemawa lawns are in excellent condition for this time of year.

About 50 cords of wood have been cut by the boys under Mr. Dillstrom.

The first Battalion dress parade of the season took place on Friday evening.

Some of the pupils expect to attend Barnes' Animal show tomorrow in Salem.

The garden needs weeding these days and many of the small boys enjoy this work.

Some of the Chemawa people attended "Julius Ceasar" in town on Saturday night.

A social was held on Monday evening in the gym and every one enjoyed it very much.

The old school garden tract is now being leveled off, after which it will be planted with sweet corn.

The seniors had their final examinations this week. Today a test in etymology ends the program.

Mr. Joe Dillstrom has resigned as a temporary employe and is now in Salem doing business for himself. Success to you, Joe.

Carloads of slab wood continue to arrive from Silverton lumber mills, and the farmers are kept busy hauling it to the wood yard.

The Excelsior Literary Society held their annual party last evening in the gymnasium. A full account will be given in our next issue.

The band went to Quinaby station on the Oregon Electric last Saturday evening and furnished music for a basket social and general blow-out.

Mr. Liphart is now back on duty as night-watchman, after a month's vacation. Joe Charles and Milton George filled the position during his absence.

Dr. Fulkerson and Mr. Mitchell are becoming experts at tennis playing. Mr. Mitchell is figuring on living in a tent near the "Cottage" court this summer.

The band is in great demand these days. A number of places have been refused a date, as the dates conflict so much. The Oregon City, Gladstone Park, Chautauqua is a sure go.

Tomorrow afternoon our baseball team will meet the strong Mt. Angel College baseball team on our grounds. We were defeated by this team some time ago by a shut out, but the boys are quite confident of making them step some this time, if they don't win.

Supervisor R. H. Higgins, of the Indian Office, Washington, D. C., arrived at Chemawa a week ago today and assumed charge of the school temporarily. Mr. Higgins has had much experience in matters pertaining to this branch of government service and is at home in the position in which he now finds himself.

In the weekly try out on Monday afternoon for the training table the first fifteen showed up in the following order: Kiutis Jim, Louis Dan, Wm. Mose, Wm. Pratt, Robert Alpheus, Ed. Threemountain, Joe Demmert, Geo. Howard, Ewing Peters, Tom Powers, Miller Charles, Joe Purns, Joe Bittles, Buford Spencer and Wm. Lee.