

LOCALS

Mr. Pugh is in charge of the woodshed force.

Mr. Hall made a trip to Polk County last week.

We are told that the last cherry has been picked.

Mr. Fickle is now acting assistant disciplinarian.

Pearl Davis left last week for her home in Montana.

Soon we will hear the song of the threshing machine.

David Churchill is the latest recruit on the engineering detail.

These are great days for boys who desire to learn to swim.

Mr. Ahlander was a business visitor in Portland during the week.

Herbert Reinkin did some cherry picking last week for Mrs. Barton.

Three new pupils arrived at the school a few days ago from Alaska.

The garden boys are kept pretty busy now a-days with new potatoes.

Many of the small boys and girls are going barefooted these fine days.

It has been hot enough since our last issue to "dry up" the milch cows.

Cyril Choquette left for his home in Wrangell, Alaska, on Wednesday.

Of late there has been almost a steady stream of hay going into the barns.

Robert Jake, an ex-pupil, spent a few days at Chemawa recently visiting friends.

Mr. Mitchell and his boys have been kept "on the job" of late attending lawn matters.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall and son James enjoyed a picnic at the river on Tuesday of last week.

A number of our boys are now working as section hands for the Southern Pacific Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Silas Rhodes, of Salem were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Woods Sunday last.

Pablo Costello returned to the school recently from The Dalles, where he had been working.

Nick Hatch has been doing considerable work of late for Mr. Enright at his Polk County home.

Mr. Smith has had a busy time of it of late running the engineering, electrical and plumbing departments

The pupils are all anxiously awaiting the hop-picking period. They enjoy the work and there is money in it.

Joe Bittles, a Chemawa "heavy," is spending his vacation as the guest of George Dowd at Grande Ronde.

Petroleum Barrett, one of our printer boys, in company with Robert Downie, visited the capital a few days ago.

Raymond Ready, our "devil," picked blackberries two days last week at Wheatland for real money. We did not get to see the money.

We regret to chronicle the death of Mrs. Jasper Bridge, which occurred in Salem on the 18th of July. Mrs. Bridge was the mother of Mrs. C. E. Frye, who was a resident of Chemawa until comparatively recently. Mr. Bridge, husband of the deceased, accompanied the remains back to the old home in Indiana, where interment was made. The bereaved relatives have our sympathy.